Far from Safe Regina Lustig, DeNene Banger, 2020-06-21 Far from Safe This book is an inside look at the public health workers whose job it is to keep us all safe What is it like to live and work inside a deadly disease outbreak In Far from Safe two public health nurses write vividly of the experience from the first day that begins with the death of an infant through a frightening succession of days and weeks where new cases grow by the hour This outbreak in Coeur d Alene Idaho quickly reaches a scale that overwhelms the capacity of the local health department to respond But the health department is not the only casualty of the epidemic In 1997 an outbreak of whooping cough in Coeur d Alene Idaho started with the shocking death of an infant In the race to stop the spread of disease and protect lives the public health system was completely overwhelmed Laboratories couldn't process tests fast enough Local doctors were unable to take care of their patients Testing supplies ran out Pharmacies ran out of drugs The public health workers that stood between the community and the disease were sickened and taken off of the front lines When the outbreak ends there is a search for answers What can we do the next time What can create a stronger more agile public health system The authors describe their search for meaning and understanding within the confines of the real world

Surviving the Evacuation, Book 16: Unwanted Visitors, Unwelcome Guests Frank Tayell, The battle might be lost but the war isn't over Once it was home to half a billion people A year after the nuclear war Europe is a radioactive storm ravaged wasteland through which a hundred million undead inexorably march In their wake they leave nothing but ruins Ahead of them flee those few who managed to survive this long Chasing them are the dregs of humanity Once known as the Rosewood Cartel they kill loot and destroy as indiscriminately as the living dead Hope might be lost but it could still be found as can a future for the last remnant of humanity Those who built a sanctuary on Anglesey in Dundalk in Creil are the help that came to others In this their darkest hour but with a new dawn so close they will not give up Set in the Faroe Islands France Denmark and elsewhere the battle has begun but the war hasn't yet been lost

Surviving The Evacuation, Book 17: There We Stood Frank Tayell, 2020-01-18 As one year ends and our old world fades into memory a new future is born On a frozen archipelago where it is too cold to farm a few thousand survivors from across the Atlantic have found a refuge The arduous process of turning a sanctuary into a home begins once more for these weary travellers who've been chased from Britain from Ireland from France and Denmark But their work is not yet done The missing Marines cannot be left behind The French and Ukrainians cannot be abandoned The cartel can never be forgotten As soldiers once again become civilians the dangers of malnutrition replace the everyday spectre of starvation Potential mutiny supersedes being overrun by the undead Boredom replaces fear Slowly they relax allowing themselves to enjoy the simple pleasure of music and plays of weddings and births of life without the imminent prospect of death But all is not what it seems in the snowy wastes surrounding their town While Europe is a zombie filled radioactive wasteland there are other continents Other oceans Other survivors Other communities just like their own who will fight to keep what they've clawed from the grip of the apocalyptic nightmare Set in Northern Europe Eastern Canada and the tumultuous seas between as one year ends and a new civilisation dawns
