Poems of youth and age Burton Egbert Stevenson,1926 Poetry, Word-Play, and Word-War in Wallace Stevens Eleanor Cook,2014-07-14 In the first full length study of Wallace Stevens's word play Eleanor Cook focuses on Stevens's skillful play with grammar etymology allusion and other elements of poetry and suggests ways in which this play offers a method of approaching his work. At the same time this book is a general study of Stevens's poetry moving from his earliest to his latest work and includes close readings of three of his remarkable long poems Esthetique du Mal Notes toward a Supreme Fiction and An Ordinary Evening in New Haven. The chronological arrangement enables readers to follow Stevens's increasing skill and changing thought in three areas of his poetry: the poetry of the earth, the poetry of place, the poetry of eros and the poetry of belief. Poetry Word Play and Word War in Wallace Stevens shows how in setting words at play and in conflict Stevens could upset the usual relations of rhetoric, grammar and dialectic and thus the book contributes to the current debate about logical and a logical uses of language. Cook also places Stevens within the larger context of Western literature hearing how he speaks to Milton, Keats and Wordsworth to such American forebears as Whitman, Emerson and Dickinson and to T. S. Eliot his contemporary. General essay on Milton's English and versification and notes to the poems John Milton, 1890    Outside from the Inside Anne Whitehouse, 2020-09-15

Poetry The poems in OUTSIDE FROM THE INSIDE were suggested by my studies of anatomy and ancient Jewish texts the legacies of loved ones the lives of animals and the cycle of the seasons my family life of past and present and testimonies of others named and nameless that have entered my heart. The title of the collection comes from a letter written by Isamu Noguchi to Man Ray from the Poston War Relocation Center in 1942 and the title poem speaks to his experience when he was interned there as a Japanese American. OUTSIDE FROM THE INSIDE also suggests the body as witness and the world as conceived by the self. Between this idealism and the pressures of the historical moments our lives encompass are myriad variations of experience thought and feeling which my poems seek to express.
