Committee on Nitrite and Alternative Curing Agents in Food, 1981. Abstract. This first volume of a 2 volume report attempts to assess the health risks associated with overall exposure to nitrate, nitrite and N-nitroso compounds with emphasis on the risks from natural and supplemented nitrate and nitrite in foods and the use of nitrite as a food preservative. An evaluation was made of the toxicologic and carcinogenic significance of exposure to these chemical species and their potential health risks. A number of conclusions are developed from this evaluative report. These include: nitrate is neither carcinogenic nor mutagenic; nitrite is not a direct acting carcinogen; most N-nitroso compounds are carcinogenic in laboratory animals but the experimental data are of limited value in predicting their quantitative risk to humans; the nitrosation-inhibiting effects of ascorbate and other substances have been established and due to possible health risk in using nitrate as a curing agent a search for alternatives should be continued. The use of nitrate and nitrite in foods and the chemistry of these materials are discussed. Nitrosamine Formation and Mutagenicity of Chinese-style Salted Fish Treated with Nitrite Under Simulated Gastric Digestion Yih-Ming Weng, 1989 IARC Scientific Publications, 1984 IARC Monographs on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans IARC Working Group on the Evaluation of Carcinogenic Risks to Humans, 1988 Environmental Carcinogens, 1978 Environmental Carcinogens Harold Egan, 1978
