Marking Time:

Marking Time Linda Witte Henke, 2001 Remember the day you got your driver's license Your first real job Many of life's events pass for ordinary at the time but result in extraordinary life changes After many years of writing and overseeing rituals parish pastor preacher and retreat facilitator Linda Witte Henke shares her remarkable collection of rites for making significant life experiences sacred in her book Marking Time Christian Rituals for All Our Days book jacket Marking Time Edward Town, Angela McShane, 2020-11-24 An engaging encyclopedic account of the material world of early modern Britain as told through a unique collection of dated objects The period from 1500 to 1800 in England was one of extraordinary social transformations many having to do with the way time itself was understood measured and recorded Through a focused exploration of an extensive private collection of fine and decorative artworks this beautifully designed volume explores that theme and the variety of ways that individual notions of time and mortality shifted The feature uniting these more than 450 varied objects is that each one bears a specific date which marks a significant moment for reasons personal or professional religious or secular private or public From paintings to porringers teapots to tape measures the objects and the stories they tell offer a vivid sense of the lived experience of time while providing a sweeping survey of the material world of early modern Britain Marking Time Rev. Barbara K. Lundblad, 2010-09-01 The preacher is too often caught between biblical and contemporary time Residing first in one then in the other the preacher must somehow find a way to bring the two times separate as they might seem together The temptation of course is to capitulate to one side or the other of this tension The preacher can reside solely in the biblical time offering the congregation what amounts to weekly lectures on history and archeology spiced up with the occasional moralistic conclusion Or setting up shop permanently in contemporary time she or he can offer commentaries on society and culture that occasionally tip their hats in the direction of Scripture A third way contends Barbara Lundblad lies in marking time a way of allowing biblical time to speak to the contemporary world and vice versa When the preacher marks time he or she admits that there can be no one to one correspondence between the world of the text and the world of the congregation Nevertheless the preacher demonstrates that when the biblical text is let loose upon our day to day existence it challenges and judges redeems and sanctifies it infusing it with new meaning Likewise contemporary situations needs and experiences open up new possibilities within Scripture allowing the congregation to see truth in the text they had never before discovered there allowing them to discern the leading of the Spirit through the text and into the present moment In this volume which grows out of Lundblad's 2000 Beecher Lectures delivered at Yale Divinity School the author presents both an argument for the ongoing intersection of the biblical and contemporary worlds and examples of how that intersection might take place Marking Time Ian Maclachlan, 2012 Preliminary Material Acknowledgements Questions of literature and time Marking time with Jacques Derrida Time returning Maurice Blanchot The obstinate time of testimony Louis Ren des For ts Still time Samuel Beckett Making time for each other Pierre Klossowski
