Marti Guixe Weekly Planner Marti Guixe,2009 Marti Guixe Daily Planner Marti Guixe,2009 Transition Menu

Martí Guixé,2014 In Transition Menu the self professed ex designer Mart Guix born 1964 demonstrates how even food can be a design item In this publication Guix presents his theories on food design by chronicling the fictional character Mar L pez who over the course of her career transitions from chef and restaurant owner to food designer The book showcases a variety of elements of the fictional food designer including her CV kitchen concepts and menu design with color photographs of each of the food items on L pez s menu Guix describes how each component transcends a conventional approach to food to become a designer item Each dish is presented in conjunction with a short essay that describes its modern look and functionality Transition Menu expands upon Guix s research on food design and includes his personal theories thoughts and notes regarding the subject by which he seeks to challenge and reappraise the parameters of conventional culinary habits

Dwell ,2006-11 At Dwell we're staging a minor revolution We think that it's possible to live in a house or apartment by a bold modern architect to own furniture and products that are exceptionally well designed and still be a regular human being We think that good design is an integral part of real life And that real life has been conspicuous by its absence in most design and architecture magazines The Martí Guixé Cook Book Martí Guixé,Kurt Vanbelleghem,2003 Regeneration of Abandoned Spaces: A New Design Approach Luciano Crespi,2024-09-24 Our urban landscapes are filled with leftovers abandoned buildings and unused spaces remnants of industrial decline and societal transformations Regeneration of Abandoned Spaces A New Design Approach investigates how design and architecture can revitalize these neglected areas transforming them into dynamic livable environments This book is organized into three parts each providing a comprehensive framework for addressing this multifaceted challenge Part One explores the dynamic nature of modern living spaces and how interior design can adapt to the fluid lifestyles of contemporary nomads It delves into advanced drawing techniques that capture the intricate complexities of these evolving environments Part Two focuses on the philosophical aspects of design particularly within exhibition design examining how unfinished spaces can evoke deep emotional responses It explores the role of temporary installations in revitalizing urban areas demonstrating how ephemeral interventions can catalyze long term renewal The final section Part Three addresses the concept of unfinished design in architecture showcasing successful projects from around the world It emphasizes the aesthetic and functional benefits of embracing imperfections and repurposing abandoned spaces This part provides practical strategies and inspiring examples illustrating how adaptive reuse and incompleteness can lead to sustainable and inclusive urban regeneration Regeneration of Abandoned Spaces A New Design Approach is an essential resource for professionals urban planners and anyone passionate about urban architecture and renewal Combining theoretical insights with practical guidance it equips readers with the tools and knowledge needed to reimagine and reconstruct our cities fostering a more sustainable and inclusive future Speculative Everything, With a new preface by the authors Anthony Dunne,Fiona Raby,2024-04-02 How to use design as a tool to create not only things but ideas to speculate about possible futures Today designers often focus on making technology easy to use sexy and consumable In Speculative Everything Anthony Dunne and Fiona Raby propose a kind of design that is used as a tool to create not only things but ideas For them design is a means of speculating about how things could be to imagine possible futures This is not the usual sort of predicting or forecasting spotting trends and extrapolating these kinds of predictions have been proven wrong again and again Instead Dunne and Raby pose what if questions that are intended to open debate and discussion about the kind of future people want and do not want Speculative Everything offers a tour through an emerging cultural landscape of design ideas ideals and approaches Dunne and Raby cite examples from their own design and teaching and from other projects from fine art design architecture cinema and photography They also draw on futurology political theory the philosophy of technology and literary fiction They show us for example ideas for a solar kitchen restaurant a flypaper robotic clock a menstruation machine a cloud seeding truck a phantom limb sensation recorder and devices for food foraging that use the tools of synthetic biology Dunne and Raby contend that if we speculate more about everything reality will become more malleable The ideas freed by speculative design increase the odds of achieving desirable futures
