Marxism And Existentialism:

Marxism and Existentialism David Archard,1980 Between Existentialism and Marxism Jean-Paul Sartre,2008-01-17
This book presents a full decade of Sartre's work from the publication of the Critique of Dialectical Reason in 1960 to the basic philosophical turning point in his postwar development to the inception of his major study on Flaubert the first volumes of which appeared in 1971. The essays and interviews collected here form a vivid panorama of the range and unity of Sartre's interests since his deliberate attempt to wed his original existentialism to a rethought Marxism. A long and brilliant autobiographical interview given to New Left Review in 1969 constitutes the best single overview of Sartre's whole intellectual evolution. Three analytic texts on the US war in Vietnam the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the lessons of the May Revolt in France define his political positions as a revolutionary socialist. Questions of philosophy and aesthetics are explored in essays on Kierkegaard Mallarme and Tintoretto. Another section of the collection explores Sartre's critical attitude to orthodox psychoanalysis as a therapy and is accompanied by rejoinders from colleagues on his journal Les Temps Modernes. The volume concludes with a prolonged reflection on the nature and role of intellectuals and writers in advanced capitalism and their relationship to the struggles of the exploited and oppressed classes. Between Existentialism and Marxism is an impressive demonstration of the breadth and vitality of Sartre's thought and its capacity to respond to political and cultural changes in the contemporary world.

Existentialism Versus Marxism George Edward Novack,1966 Sartre and Marxism Pietro Chiodi,1976 The Existentialist Marxism of Jean-Paul Sartre James Lawler,1976 The title of this book may be misleading if it leads one to expect a study of Sartre's writings that primarily stresses Sartre's own interpretation of Marxism. There is certainly an attempt to explain Sartre's existentialist interpretation of Marxism and to provide a presentation which is as accurate as possible. The title however is meant to suggest a question: Is the combination of existentialism and Marxism a valid one from the point of view of Marxism? Is existentialist Marxism a real unity or is it a false juxtaposition of antagonistic theories? The title should perhaps be followed by a question mark. And yet if this question is to be answered another question must be asked: What is Marxism? Does it have a definite reality or is Marxism something that only exists in the eye of the beholder? The aim of this study is to answer both of these sets of questions.

Existentialism versus Marxism George Novack,1966 Between Existentialism and Marxism Jean-Paul Sartre,2012

Sartre and Marxist Existentialism Thomas R. Flynn,1986-10-15 In this important book Thomas R. Flynn reinterprets and evaluates Sartre's social and political philosophy arguing that the existential ethics of Sartre's early phase is consistent with the Marxist inspired views of his later writings. Displaying his mastery of Sartre's entire corpus Flynn reconstructs Sartre's social ontology with its sensitive balance of the existentialist's respect for moral responsibility and the Marxist's sense of social causation. Flynn focuses on the issue of collective responsibility as a particularly apt test case for assessing any proposed union of existentialist and Marxist perspectives. The study begins with an examination of the uses of responsibility in Being and Nothingness and in several postwar essays. Flynn then concentrates on the Critique of Dialectical Reason, offering a thorough analysis of the remarkable social theory Sartre constructs there. A masterful contribution to Sartre scholarship, Sartre and Marxist Existentialism will be of great interest to social and political philosophers involved in the debate over collective responsibility.

The Existentialists and Jean-Paul Sartre Maxwell, John Charlesworth, 1976 A

Philosophy of Man Adam Schaff, 1963 Contemporary Philosophical Alternatives and the Crisis of Truth G.A. Rauche, 2012-12-06 The function of philosophy may be circumscribed as consisting in making a keen analysis of the peculiar nature of the crisis situation as it has existed among men throughout the centuries of human history and as it manifested itself in definite ways at the various stages of this history. That is to say, philosophy may be regarded as the discipline which again and again will have to determine the authenticity of man's existence in the light of the changing conditions of life, i.e., man's changing needs and interests. Fundamentally, these needs may be regarded as being of a material, an intellectual, an aesthetical and a spiritual kind. On the grounds of the crisis which inevitably exists among men on account of the controversial nature of their various truth perspectives as they are postulated on a personal level in the sciences in history in the fine arts and in theology, man creates and re-creates the goods of civilization and the cultural values. The task of philosophy consists then in making an ever new assessment of man's changing needs, interests and aspirations on the basis of the specific conflicts and problems with which man wrestles at a certain historical stage. It is in this way that the important philosophical systems were constructed which we still admire to day.

Sartre's Marxism Mark Poster, 1979

Sartre's Marxism analyses Sartre's Critique of Dialectical Reason and its contribution to Marxist theory. Mark Poster places the Critique within the social and political context of post-war France and gives a lucid and accessible account of its key arguments and concepts. He argues against those who dismiss the Critique too lightly, especially those who view it through the lens of Sartre's earlier existentialism. He concludes that traditional notions of historical materialism need to be revisited in the light of Sartre's contribution, which provides categories to restore the subjective side to the story in which people make history.
