Metaphor Of Painting:

The Metaphor of Painting Lee McKay Johnson,1980 Painting as Metaphor Sarah Nind,2010-04 The displacement of traditional axioms of visual arts by new media and technology has necessitated a rethinking of the format of the pictorial image Owing to the decline in value of the material art object as the necessary end of the creative process in contemporary art practices art is left adrift in seemingly infinite possibilities in structure aesthetic form and temporal space now unable to speak to the past or to the future Could it be that contemporary debates about the demise of the visual arts are in fact lamentations that highlight the anxiety of a society that has been separated from traditional structures of cultural identity into a flux of creative reorganization And is this creative shift while instigator of cultural angst and unease also an opening to new formats and potentialities offering new possibilities of what might constitute structure and materiality of the pictorial image Painting as Metaphor Rethinking Pictorial Structure and Materiality examines these questions Sarah Nind is a professional artist and a professor in the Faculty of Art OCAD University Toronto Canada and holds a PhD in Media and Communications from the European Graduate School Her photo based works have been exhibited nationally and internationally Collections include the National Gallery of Canada and the Canadian Museum of Contemporary Photography

The Metaphor of Painting Lee M. Johnson,1989 Painting the Woods Deborah Paris,2020-12-11 When first time author and artist Deborah Paris stepped into Lennox Woods an old growth southern hardwood forest in northeast Texas she felt a disruption that was both spatial and temporal Walking the remnants of an old wagon trail past ancient stands of pine white oak elm hickory sweetgum maple hornbeam and red oak she felt drawn into a reverie that took her back to the beginning both physically and metaphorically Painting the Woods Nature Memory and Metaphor explores the experience of landscape through the lens of art and art making It is a place based meditation on nature art memory and time grounded in Paris s experiences over the course of a year in Lennox Woods Her account unfolds through the twin arcs of the changing seasons and her creative process as a landscape painter In the tradition of Annie Dillard s Pilgrim at Tinker Creek narrative passages interweave with observations about the natural history of Lennox Woods its flora and fauna art history the science of memory Transcendentalist philosophy the role of metaphor in creative work and even loop quantum gravity theory Each chapter explores a different aspect of the forest and a different step in the art making process illuminating our connection to the natural world through language comprehension of time and visual depictions of the landscape The complex layers of the forest and Paris s journey through it emerge as metaphors for the larger themes of the book just as the natural world underpins the art making drawn from it Like the trail that winds through Lennox Woods memory and time intertwine to provide a path for understanding nature art and our relationship to both Painting a Metaphor Joel Aaron Smith,1965
