Handbook of Marketing Decision Models Berend Wierenga, 2008-09-05 Marketing models is a core component of the marketing discipline. The recent developments in marketing models have been incredibly fast with information technology e.g. the Internet, online marketing, e-commerce and customer relationship management (CRM) creating radical changes in the way companies interact with their customers. This has created completely new breeds of marketing models but major progress has also taken place in existing types of marketing models. Handbook of Marketing Decision Models presents the state of the art in marketing decision models. The book deals with new modeling areas such as customer relationship management, customer value and online marketing as well as recent developments in other advertising, sales, promotions, sales management and competition. New developments are in consumer decision models, models for return on marketing, marketing management support systems and in special techniques such as time series and neural nets.

Chapman, 1997 Brandmaps is a marketing simulation game for MS-DOS personal computers that reflects a realistic approach to the complexities, uncertainties and challenges inherent in the marketing decision making and analysis process. Topics covered include product design, pricing, communications, sales forecasting, cost structure and operations and management decisions. It also includes various product design studies including self-reported attribute preference, concept testing and conjoint analysis, perceptual positioning analysis, full-scale test marketing, competitive position auditing, brand profile analysis, advertising and promotion experiments, price sensitivity analysis, market structure analysis and operating results and market database as well as competitive and market monitoring studies. Catalog of Marketing Organization G. Tomas M. Hult, 2012-04-24 Now more than ever, marketing is assuming a key boundary-spanning role, a role that also redefined the composition of the marketing organization. In this Brief, the marketing organization's integrative and mutually reinforcing components of marketing activities, customer value creating processes, networks and stakeholders are delineated within their boundary-spanning roles. Expanding upon his article published in the Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science in 2011, Tomas Hult draws thematic marketing insights from the integration of thirty-one organization theories to advance knowledge on the boundary-spanning marketing organization within four areas: strategic
