J. Smith,1992-01-09 English metaphysical poetry from Donne to Marvell is conspicuously witty A J Smith seeks the central importance of wit in the thinking of the metaphysical poets and argues that metaphysical wit is essentially different from other modes of wit current in Renaissance Europe Formal theories and rhetorics of wit are considered both for their theoretical import and their appraisals of wit in practice Prevailing fashions of witty invention are scrutinized in Italian French and Spanish writings so as to bring out the nature and effect of various forms of wit conceited hieroglyphic transformational and others from which the metaphysical mode is distinguished He locates the basis of Renaissance wit in the received conception of the created order and a theory of literary innovation inherent in Humanist belief which led to novel couplings of time and eternity body and soul man and God Yet he finds that metaphysical wit distinctively works to discover a spiritual presence in sensible events and he traces its demise in the 1660s to changes in the understanding of the natural world associated with the rise of empirical science      The Metaphysical Poets Donald Mackenzie,1990      Four Metaphysical Poets John Donne,Douglas Brooks-Davies,1997 This anthology poems by John Donne George Herbert Andrew Marvell and Thoma      The Reputation of the Metaphysical Poets During the Age of Johnson and the Romantic Revival Arthur H. BOOK JACKET

Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved      Seven Metaphysical Poets Robert Ellrodt, 2000 Robert Ellrodt's study of seven poets springing from his wide ranging three volume work Les Poètes métaphysiques anglais challenges the postmodernist assumption that no definite or constant self can be traced in the works of a writer Distinct modes of self awareness different emphases in the perception of time and space and various ways of grasping the sensible and the spiritual the human and the divine jointly or separately characterize the minds of Donne and George Herbert Crashaw and Vaughan Lord Herbert Marvell and Traherne Fundamental mental structures affect their attitudes to love death and God and dictate their privileged modes of composition and expression Without neglecting the relations between these individual traits and the general evolution of thought from classical antiquity to the Renaissance or the immediate cultural environment in which each poet wrote this critical study maintains the primacy of individual choice of the unchanging self The book is not based on a theory but on a close scrutiny of the characteristic interplay of personal modes of thought and sensibility
