Pagani, 2025-02-21 Humanity animals and the ecosystem are seriously threatened by antimicrobial resistance. A significant reason is the inappropriate use of antimicrobials in the human animal and environmental sectors as well as the global spread of resistant bacteria and resistance genes. Lately the use of antimicrobials in animals raised for human consumption has become a significant public health issue. The environment also has a big impact in the interface between human and animal health through biodiversity loss, climate change and pollution. A sustainable balance and optimization of the health of people, animals and ecosystems are the goals of the comprehensive unifying approach known as One Health. To battle and contain antimicrobial resistance within a One Health strategy, rigorous antimicrobial resistance surveillance along with strict execution of the core plan and action should be carried out at various sectors individually and collectively at the national and worldwide level.
