understanding colonialism in Nigeria and Africa as a whole From his study of animals with unequal political economic social and intellectual capabilities Aderinto establishes that the core dichotomies of human colonial subjecthood indispensable yet disposable good and bad violent but peaceful saintly and lawless were also embedded in the identities of Nigeria s animal inhabitants If class religion ethnicity location and attitude toward imperialism determined the pattern of relations between human Nigerians and the colonial government then species habitat material value threat and biological and psychological characteristics among other traits shaped imperial perspectives on animal Nigerians Conceptually sophisticated and intellectually engaging Aderinto s thesis challenges readers to rethink what constitutes history and to recognize that human agency and narrative are not the only makers of the past
