selections examine how Indians have been displayed to the public beginning with a living exhibit of Cocopa Indians at the 1904 Louisiana Purchase Exposition and extending to contemporary stagings of Indian culture for tourists at Tillicum Village near Seattle Other chapters range from the Cherokees to Puebloan peoples to Indians of Chiapas Mexico in an examination of the roles of both Indians and non Indian reformers in marketing Native arts and crafts These articles show that the commercialization and appropriation of American Indian cultures have been persistent practices of American society over the last century and constitute a form of cultural imperialism that could contribute to the destruction of American Indian culture and identity They offer a means toward understanding this complex process and provide a new window on Indian white interactions
