Metropolitan Desegregation:

Metropolitan Desegregation Robert Green, 2013-11-11 Most of the findings in this book are based on the work of a team of researchers from Urban Affairs Programs at Michigan State University From 1976 to 1981 the team observed the progress of school desegregation in metropolitan Wilmington Delaware which encompasses New Castle County The project was made possible by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation Division of Social Sciences Metropolitan desegregation is a strategy deserving of national attention because this country's black population has become increasingly concentrated within central cities Desegregation solutions must be found that encompass America's white suburbs as well as its urban areas In a 1977 statement the U S Commission on Civil Rights called metropolitan school desegregation the last frontier to be crossed in the long judicial effort to make equal educational opportunity a living reality Moreover the National Task Force on Desegregation Strategies concluded in 1979 The simple demographic fact is that many large city school districts cannot desegregate by themselves For children in such districts the best hope for attending a desegregated school lies in the implementation of metropolitan desegregation strategies i e desegregation plans which do not stop at the city line but rather encompass at least some of the surrounding suburban areas p 1 The Michigan State University research team began its investigation in New Castle County Delaware after a three judge federal district court ruled that area schools were illegally segregated between districts

Milliken V. Bradley--the Implications for Metropolitan Desegregation Frederick B. Routh, Everett A. Waldo, United States Commission on Civil Rights, Carol-Lee Hurley, 1975 Statement on Metropolitan School Desegregation William L. Taylor, United States Commission on Civil Rights, 1977 When the Fences Come Down Genevieve Siegel-Hawley, 2016-04-12 How we provide equal educational opportunity to an increasingly diverse highly urbanized student population is one of the central concerns facing our nation As Genevieve Siegel Hawley argues in this thought provoking book within our metropolitan areas we are currently allowing a labyrinthine system of school district boundaries to divide students and opportunities along racial and economic lines Rather than confronting these realities though most contemporary educational policies focus on improving schools by raising academic standards holding teachers and students accountable through test performance and promoting private sector competition Siegel Hawley takes us into the heart of the metropolitan South to explore what happens when communities instead focus squarely on overcoming the educational divide between city and suburb Based on evidence from metropolitan school desegregation efforts in Richmond Virginia Louisville Kentucky Charlotte Mecklenburg North Carolina and Chattanooga Tennessee between 1990 and 2010 Siegel Hawley uses quantitative methods and innovative mapping tools both to underscore the damages wrought by school district boundary lines and to raise awareness about communities that have sought to counteract them She shows that city suburban school desegregation policy is related to clear measurable progress on both school and housing desegregation Revisiting educational policies that in many cases were abruptly halted or never begun this book will spur an open conversation about the creation of the healthy integrated schools and communities critical to our multiracial future individual racism and white communities resistance to desegregation but as the result of long standing linkages between schooling property markets labor markets and the pursuit of economic growth By making visible the full scope of the forces invested in and reinforcing inequality Erickson reveals the complex history of and broad culpability for ongoing struggles in our schools
