Order Of Mimesis Balzac Stendhal Nerval And Flaubert:

The Order of Mimesis Christopher Prendergast, 1988-10-28 Drawing on a range of theoretical perspectives developed in and around the work of Barthes Kristeva Genette and Derrida Dr Prendergast explores approaches to the concept of mimesis and relates these to a number of narrative texts produced in the period which literary history familiarly designates as the age of realism

The Order of Mimesis Christopher Prendergast, 1986 Realism and Space in the Novel,

1795-1869 Rosa Mucignat, 2016-04-01 Posing new questions about realism and the creative power of narratives Rosa Mucignat takes a fresh look at the relationship between representation and reality As Mucignat points out worlds evoked in fiction all depend to a greater or lesser extent on the world we know from experience but they are neither parasites on nor copies of those realms Never fully aligned with the real world stories grow out of the mismatch between reality and representation those areas of the fictional space that are not located on actual maps but still form a fully structured imagined geography Mucignat offers new readings of six foundational texts of modern Western culture Goethe's Wilhelm Meister's Apprenticeship Jane Austen's Mansfield Park Alessandro Manzoni's The Betrothed Stendhal's Le Rouge et le Noir Charles Dickens's Great Expectations and Gustave Flaubert's Sentimental Education Using these texts as source material and supporting evidence for a new and comprehensive theory of space in fiction she examines the links between the nineteenth century novel's interest in creating substantial life like worlds and contemporary developments in science art and society Mucignat's book is an evocative analysis of the way novels marshal their technical and stylistic resources to produce imagined geographies so complex and engrossing that they intensify and even transform the reader's experience of real life places

Flaubert's Straight and Suspect

Saints Aimée Israel-Pelletier, 1991-01-01 This study of the fictional themes and techniques of Michel Tournier reveals his profound radicalism as a social critic and novelist despite the seeming conventionality of his works Guided by Tournier's essays and interviews Petit examines his fiction in light of plot sources philosophical and anthropological training and his belief that fiction should change the world Close study of Vendredi ou les limbes du Pacifique Le Roi des aulnes Les Mâtures Gaspard Melchior et Balthazar and La Goutte d'or as well as the short fiction in Le Coq de bruyre and Le Mâdianache amoureux shows Tournier's revolutionary conception of plot structuring as he develops key themes whether religion sensuality or prejudice in more than twenty years spent reconceiving the nature of fiction

The Novel of Female Adultery

Bill Overton, 2016-07-27 The novel of adultery is a nineteenth century form about the experience of women produced almost exclusively by men Bill Overton's study is the first to address the gender implications of this form and the first to write its history The opening chapter defines the terms adultery and novel of adultery and discusses how the form arose in Continental Europe but failed to appear in Britain Successive chapters deal with its development in France and with examples from Russia Denmark Germany Spain and Portugal     The Habit of Lying John Vignaux Smyth,2002-03-18 An investigation of deceit and concealment that proposes a new theory of fiction both as a new genre of literature and as a strategy in the social world     Nineteenth Century French Fiction Writers Catharine Savage Brosman,1992 Contains alphabetically arranged entries that provide career biographies of nineteen French writers of Romantic and realistic fiction active between 1800 and 1860 each with a list of principal works and a bibliography     New Approaches in Flaubert Studies Tony Williams,Mary Orr,1999 A collection of critical essays on the work of Flaubert     The Environmental Imagination Lawrence Buell,1995-02-06 With Thoreau's Walden as a touchstone Buell offers an account of environmental perception the place of nature in the history of Western thought and the consequences for literary scholarship of attempting to imagine a more ecocentric way of being In doing so he provides a profound rethinking of our literary and cultural reflections on nature     The American Humanities Index Stephen H. Goode,1990     Chaos Theory, Complexity, Cinema, and the Evolution of the French Novel Emily Zants,1996 This study argues that the evolution of the French novel has been towards cinema based on chaos and complexity theories In its attempt to break away from the frozen forms of hierarchical thought inherent to the Monarchy and the Bourgeoisie to engender a new order of thought novels have developed techniques and structures such as fragmentation doublings flashbacks or metaphorical representations that are cinematic because they engender a sense of spatial and temporal simultaneity whereas the traditional novel is condemned to the linearity of words This evolution is significant because the new techniques suspend the reader's habitual frame of reference and engage him/her in a consideration of new relationships     Against the Glare Anthony Louis Marasco,2008     The Cambridge Review ,1988 Vols 1-26 include a supplement The University pulpit vols 1-26 no 1-661 which has separate pagination but is indexed in the main vol     Proceedings of the ... Congress of the International Comparative Literature Association International Comparative Literature Association. Congress,1988     Problems and Poetics of the Nonaristotelian Novel Leonard Orr,1991 In this work an alternative tradition in fiction is played off against the mainstream novel genre conventions reader expectations and the audience's worldview     Visions/revisions Nigel Harkness,2003 The essays in this volume contribute diversely towards a revision and a reconceptualization of nineteenth century France with many adopting interdisciplinary methodologies attentive to the interplay between literature history art popular and high culture politics and science     Personifying Capitalism Irene Percivali,2005     Roland Barthes Andrew Brown,1992 The first serious analysis of Barthes as a writer with specific aesthetic techniques this fresh and original study focuses on some of the ways he discusses the nature of his own writing The first two chapters examine the key but ambiguous term of drift a word which raises questions about how exactly Barthes's writing develops across three decades about the scientific legitimacy of his concepts and about his own frequently fraught relation to the scientific discourses around him especially psychoanalysis Two typical discursive maneuvers that structure his writing naming and framing are then shown to generate particular aesthetic effects which cause complications for some of his theoretical stances Barthes's fascination for the idea that all writing is a kind of scribble closer to the visual arts than to speech is investigated in depth and his latent animosity against speech as such is made manifest. The final chapter suggests that for Barthes the real can leave its mark on writing only as a disturbing indeed traumatic trace. Reading Character in Jane Austen's Emma Marjet Berendsen, 1991 Proefschrift Universiteit van Amsterdam In deze studie worden de begrippen literair personage en personage effect geanalyseerd vanuit een viertal invalshoeken: personage als set codes, als interpretant, als gestructureerde eenheid en als leeservaring. Jane Austen's Emma dient hierbij als illustratiemateriaal. Persoonlijke leeservaringen zowel als interpretaties van anderen worden besproken en verantwoord.
