Managing Politics and Islam in Indonesia Donald J. Porter, 2002 This book examines the politics of Islam and the state in Indonesia over recent decades during which time there has been a notable resurgence of Islamic political movements It argues that after a period in the late 1980s and 1990s when the state worked to bring religious authority and institutions within state prescribed limits in order to support the official state ideology and political stability there was a change whereby Suharto incorporated Muslim interests within the political system One unintended consequence of this was to raise Muslims political expectations and to mobilise Musl

Managing Politics and Islam in Indonesia Donald J. Porter, 2013-08-21 First published in 2004 This text examines the politics of Islam and the state of Indonesia over recent decades during which time there has been a notable resurgence of Islamic political movements It argues that after the state had consistently worked to restrict and exclude political Islam from power in the late 1980s and 1990s there was a change whereby Suharto courted the support and began to incorporate Muslim interests within the political system

The Politics of Religion in South and Southeast Asia Ishtiaq Ahmed, 2011-05-04 The notion of a politics of religion refers to the increasing role that religion plays in the politics of the contemporary world This book presents comparative country case studies on the politics of religion in South and South Asia including India Pakistan and Indonesia The politics of religion calls into question the relevance of modernist notions of secularism and democracy with the emphasis instead on going back to indigenous roots in search of authentic ideologies and models of state and nation building Within the context of the individual countries chapters focus on the consequences that politics of religion has on inclusive nation building democracy and the rights of individuals minorities and women The book makes a contribution to both the theoretical and conceptual literature on the politics of religion as well as shed light on the implications and ramifications of the politics of religion on contemporary South Asian and South East Asian countries It is of interest to students and scholars of South and South East Asian Studies as well as Comparative Politics

State of Authority Gerry Van Klinken, Joshua Barker, 2018-05-31 A major realignment is taking place in the way we understand the state in Indonesia New studies on local politics ethnicity the democratic transition corruption Islam popular culture and other areas hint at novel concepts of the state though often without fully articulating them This book captures several dimensions of this shift One reason for the new thinking is a fresh wind that has altered state studies generally People are posing new kinds of questions about the state and developing new methodologies to answer them Another reason for this shift is that Indonesia itself has changed probably more than most people recognize It looks more democratic but also more chaotic and corrupt than it did during the militaristic New Order of 1966 1998 State of Authority offers a range of detailed case studies based on fieldwork in many different settings around the archipelago The studies bring to life figures of authority who have sought to carve out positions of power for themselves using legal and illegal means These figures include village heads informal slum leaders district heads parliamentarians and others These individuals negotiate in settings where the state is evident and where it is discussed coffee houses hotel lounges fishing waters and street side stalls These case studies and the broader trend in scholarship of which they are a part allow for a new theorization of the state in Indonesia that more adequately addresses the complexity of political life in this vast archipelago nation State of Authority demonstrates that the state of Indonesia is not monolithic but is constituted from the ground up by a host of local negotiations and symbolic practices

Emergence and Development of Liberal Islam in Indonesia Sohirin Mohammad Solihin, 2009 Indonesian Islamic Culture in Historical Perspectives, 2017 Wacana journal of the humanities of Indonesia, 2012 Indonesia Betrayed Elizabeth Fuller Collins, 2007-07-31 Supporters of neoliberalism claim that free markets lead to economic growth the creation of a middle class and the establishment of democratically accountable governments Critics point to a widening gap between rich and poor as countries compete to win foreign investment and to the effects on the poor of neoliberal programs that restrict funding for health education and welfare This book offers a ground level view from Sumatra of the realities behind these debates during the final years of Suharto's New Order and the beginning of a transition to more democratic government The author's wealth of primary data from ten years of interviews and local newspaper reportage 1994 2004 shows how farmers and laborers were dispossessed by both government policies and crony capitalism Elizabeth Collins relates the stories of populist efforts in South Sumatra to combat development policies responsible for producing extreme poverty and allowing corruption to flourish She describes how student led NGOs worked with farmers fighting to retain their livelihoods in the lowland forests of South Sumatra She reports on a local branch of the Indonesian Environmental Forum as it battled multinational companies and Indonesian conglomerates responsible for damage to the environment on contract workers protesting exploitation by a company with ties to a Suharto crony and on systemic corruption under the New Order which spread throughout all levels of government and into civil society organizations She examines the sometimes strained relationships between Islamists and human rights activists arguing that there is no inherent contradiction between Islam and democratic politics Collins concludes that for real change to occur neoliberal capitalism must be recognized as a utopian ideology democracy imperfect as it is offers the best hope for sustainable development in Indonesia

Journal of Indonesian Social Sciences and Humanities, 2008 Piety and Politics Ann Kull, 2005 This dissertation in the field of Islamic studies offers a critical analysis of Nurcholish Madjid's attempt to interpret Islam within the framework of modern Indonesia Nurcholish who recently passed away at the age of sixty six had been active in the reform of Islamic thought for over thirty years and while remaining deeply coloured by the local Indonesian context was also part of a global and century old tradition of reform The aim of this dissertation is twofold Firstly it is a study in the tradition of the history of ideas and thus attempts an analysis of Nurcholish s ideational production and methodological approach Secondly it aims to locate Nurcholish s ideas and activities within the Indonesian context To this end it provides a presentation of his life intellectual influences and an overview of relevant historical facts
