Managing Teacher Appraisal and Performance Carol Cardno, David Middlewood, 2002-11-01 The biggest single issue currently facing school managers is how they should appraise their staff and what the implications of the process are This edited collection brings together the latest thinking on the subject from both the UK and overseas and places it directly in the context of school management Issues discussed include the role of appraisal in school leadership and the role of appraisal in developing teachers The importance of this combined with the lack of published material on the subject make this book an essential purchase for all headteachers heads of department INSET co ordinators and postgraduate educational management students

School Management and School Methods Joseph Baldwin, 1897 Rural School Management William Albert Wilkinson, 1917 Better schools, better teachers, better results Vic Zbar, Graham Marshall, Paul Power, 2007-02-01 Performance management is an essential element of any school's strategy to build and maintain a strong and vibrant professional culture that supports high quality teaching and high quality learning. Providing a series of practical guides for principals, team leaders and teachers, this professional toolkit specifically examines the how of performance management in schools. It sets out a performance management process appropriate for a future oriented teaching profession, emphasising the importance of self management, continuing professional development and lifelong self directed improvement. Better Schools Better Teachers Better Results shows how to provide objective and constructive feedback on teacher performance by highlighting areas of strength on which to build and identifying shortcomings to be redressed through targeted training and other developmental support. Schools with existing system level requirements around performance management gain a means of examining the way they are implemented in order to gain greater benefit from what is already in place. For schools that have developed their own mechanisms for managing performance, this title will enable them to reflect on their existing purposes and processes to see where they might be able to improve.
