Manning Clark Collected Short Stories:

Manning Clark, 1986 Clio's Lives Doug Munro, John G. Reid, 2017-10-09 Including contributions from leading scholars in the field from both Australia and North America this collection explores diverse approaches to writing the lives of historians and ways of assessing the importance of doing so Beginning with the writing of autobiographies by historians the volume then turns to biographical studies both of historians whose writings were in some sense nation defining and those who may be regarded as having had a major influence on defining the discipline of history The final section explores elements of collective biography linking these to the formation of historical networks A concluding essay by Barbara Caine offers a critical appraisal of the study of historians biographies and autobiographies to date and maps out likely new directions for future work Clio's Lives is a very good scholarly collection that advances the study of autobiography and biography within the writing of history itself taking theoretical questions in significant new directions The contributors are well known and highly respected in the history profession and write with an insight and intellectual energy that will ensure the book has considerable impact They examine cutting edge issues about the writing of history at the personal level through autobiography and biography in diverse and innovative ways Together the writers have provided reflective chapters that will be widely read for their impressive theoretical advances as well as being inspirational for new entrants to the disciplinary area Patricia Grimshaw University of Melbourne Clio's Lives brings together a most interesting and varied cast of contributors Its chapters contain sophisticated and well penned ruminations on the uses of biography and autobiography among historians These are clearly connected with the general themes of the volume This delightfully mixed bag makes very good reading and as well will serve as a substantial contribution to the study of the biography and autobiography Eric Richards Flinders University Ministers, Mandarins And Diplomats Joan Beaumont, Christopher Waters, David Lowe, 2013-06-14 In the three decades from the beginning of World War II Australia emerged on the world stage as an independent actor in foreign affairs The key institution overseeing the development of Australia's international status and foreign policy during that period was the Department of External Affairs This stimulating collection of essays explores the history of this government department as it grew from being a small amateur bureaucratic player to become a professional global network This book sheds new light on the major figures in Australian international history H V Doc Evatt Percy Spender Richard Casey Garfield Barwick and Paul Hasluck and their relationships with their senior bureaucratic advisers The experiences of Australian diplomats as they joined the Department of External Affairs as junior recruits and worked overseas are also examined Ministers Mandarins and Diplomats tells the story of the people the events and the ideas that shaped Australian foreign policy and gave Australia its identity in the eyes of the rest of the world The Boyer Collection Donald McDonald, 2001 Since their inception in 1959 the ABC's Boyer Lecture series have given prominent Australians an opportunity to discuss their work and thinking on major social scientific and cultural issues In this book Donald McDonald has selected a lecture from every series from the last forty years creating an extraordinary record of Australian thought and culture

Suspect History Humphrey McQueen, 1997 Analysis of modern Australian history and culture which reflects on topics such as the accusation that historian Manning Clark was an agent of Soviet influence and discusses various approaches to understanding Australia's past Includes bibliography and index The author's other publications include A New Britannia and Gallipoli to Petrov

Short Stories ..., 1992 Biography of a Book: Henry Lawson's While the Billy Boils Paul Eggert, 2013 Biography of a

Book traces the life of an iconic Australian literary work in the lead up to and for a century after its initial publication Henry Lawson's 1896 collection While the Billy Boils Paul Eggert follows Lawson's gradual development of a pared back bush realism in the early 1890s as he struggled to forge a career writing short stories and sketches for the newspapers Lawson's famous collection came out at a decisive moment for the development of a fully professional Australian literary publishing industry then in its infancy in Sydney The volume's editing design and production were collaborative events that changed the feel and nature of Lawson's writing He had to give ground on his texts and their sequencing The collection went on to be reprinted and repackaged countless times Its production and reception histories act like a geological cross section revealing the contours of successive cultural formations in Australia In unravelling the life of Lawson's classic work Eggert's book historical approach challenges and clarifies established understandings of crucial moments in Australian literary history and of Lawson himself

The Bulletin, 1995 Journal of the short story in English, 1985 The Cumulative Book Index, 1902 Studies in Short Fiction, 1970 Women and the Bush Kay Schaffer, 1988 How the concept of the typical Australian has evolved across a range of cultural forms Australian Book Review, 1988 The Literature of Australia Nicholas Jose, 2009 Unprecedented in the breadth of what it offers from both the ancient and the recent literature of my country Thomas Keneally from the foreword
