The Middle East Remembered Jacob Lassner, 2000 A meditation on the art of history writing in the medieval Near East

Arabs and Iranians in the Islamic Conquest Narrative Scott Savran, 2017-09-08 Arabs and Iranians in the Islamic Conquest Narrative analyzes how early Muslim historians merged the pre Islamic histories of the Arab and Iranian peoples into a didactic narrative culminating with the Arab conquest of Iran This book provides an in depth examination of Islamic historical accounts of the encounters between representatives of these two peoples that took place in the centuries prior to the coming of Islam By doing this it uncovers anachronistic projections of dynamic identity and political discourses within the contemporaneous Islamic world It shows how the formulaic placement of such embellishment within the context of the narrative served to justify the Arabs rise to power whilst also explaining the fall of the Iranian Sasanian empire The objective of this book is not simply to mine Islamic historical chronicles for the factual data they contain about the pre Islamic period but rather to understand how the authors of these works thought about this era By investigating the intersection between early Islamic memory identity construction and power discourses this book will benefit researchers and students of Islamic history and literature and Middle Eastern Studies

Muhammad 'Abduh Oliver Scharbrodt, 2022-07-28 How to approach the complex intellectual legacy of a modern Muslim thinker like Muhammad Abduh 1849 1905 This book offers an answer to this question by providing a new complete intellectual biography of him It delineates Abduh s formation as a reformer and activist and embeds his varied intellectual contributions in a culture of ambiguity which has marked the intellectual life of Muslim societies throughout their history By using new sources in particular his early mystical philosophical and political writings and including recent academic contributions on him the book explores Abduh s complex intellectual formation the various religious philosophical and cultural influences that shaped him and his changing attitudes towards Western modernity and its colonial manifestation in the 19th century Oliver Scharbrodt challenges the perception in academic scholarship and among Muslim reformers of the 20th century that searched for intellectual coherence and biographical consistency in Abduh s life Instead this book offers a new more comprehensive reading of his intellectual legacy and highlights the variety of approaches and ideas manifest in his contributions

Entangled Hagiographies of the Religious Other Alexandra Cuffel, Nikolas Jaspert, 2019-04-23 Tales of saints whether told by their adherents or detractors frequently featured the holy person s dealings with members of other religions or cultures or the stories themselves were appropriated by different religious or cultural groups As such narratives moved from one social cultural religious or chronological milieu to another the representation and meaning of the given holy person and the manner of his her dealing with the religious other also often changed As basic storylines remained recognizable the transformations of specific details often provide important clues about shifts in attitudes over time and between communities This volume provides a varied array of case studies of this process ranging from early China to various Christian Muslim and Jewish cultural contexts in the late antique medieval and early modern periods      Muhammad's Military Expeditions Ayman S. Ibrahim, 2024 The Arabic Muslim literature on Muhammad's maghazi is bountiful. Since this book focuses on Muhammad's maghazi, a survey of this literature is important not only to establish the centrality of the topic in Islamic thought but also to relay the uniqueness and contribution of this book. To that end, in this chapter, I will first explore that which classical Muslim narrators wrote on Muhammad's maghazi and the ways they used the accounts to reflect Allah's support for Muhammad and the believers. In the second section, I will examine discussions by modern and contemporary Muslims relating how they interpret the accounts of the maghazi. In particular, I will discuss their articulation of the motivations and results of Muhammad's military campaigns. The first two sections of this chapter will thus establish the centrality of the maghazi as a literary genre as well as its importance among Muslims past and present. In the third section, I take the discussion to non-Muslim scholarship. I explore briefly early views on Muhammad and his career by non-Muslims before I focus on works and arguments of key Western scholars from the nineteenth century until our present day.

Revolutionizing a World Mark Altaweel, Andrea Squitieri, 2018-02-26 This book investigates the long-term continuity of large-scale states and empires and its effect on the Near East's social fabric, including the fundamental changes that occurred to major social institutions. Its geographical coverage spans from east to west, modern-day Libya and Egypt to Central Asia and from north to south, Anatolia to southern Arabia, incorporating modern-day Oman and Yemen. Its temporal coverage spans from the late eighth century BCE to the seventh century CE during the rise of Islam and collapse of the Sasanian Empire. The authors argue that the persistence of large states and empires starting in the eighth century BCE, which continued for many centuries, led to new socio-political structures and institutions emerging in the Near East. The primary processes that enabled this emergence were large-scale and long-distance movements or population migrations. These patterns of social developments are analysed under different aspects: settlement patterns, urban structure, material culture, trade, governance, language spread, and religion, all pointing at movement as the main catalyst for social change. This book's argument is framed within a larger theoretical framework termed as universalism, a theory that explains many of the social transformations that happened to societies in the Near East starting from the Neo-Assyrian period and continuing for centuries. Among other influences, the effects of these transformations are today manifested in modern languages, concepts of government, universal religions, and monetized and globalized economies.

Sugar in the Social Life of Medieval Islam Tsugitaka Sato, 2015-01-08 In Sugar in the Social Life of Medieval Islam, Tsugitaka Sato explores the actual day-to-day life in medieval Muslim societies through different aspects of sugar. Drawing from a wealth of historical sources, chronicles, geographies, travel accounts, biographies, medical and pharmacological texts, and more, he describes sugarcane cultivation, sugar production, the sugar trade, and sugar's use as a sweetener, a medicine, and a symbol of power. He gives us a new perspective on the history of the Middle East as well as the history of sugar across the world. This book is a posthumous work by a leading scholar of Middle Eastern and Islamic studies.
