Middle Kingdom Studies:

The World of Middle Kingdom Egypt (2000-1550 BC) Gianluca Minci, Wolfram Grajetzki, 2016 This volume continues the scope and method of the first World of Middle Kingdom Egypt collection containing a selection of contribution from established scholars on a variety of topics ranging in date from the beginning of the Middle Kingdom to the early New Kingdom. The cardinal focus is on the archaeology including objects from museum collections or from hitherto unpublished excavations. Other contributions relate to written sources, religion and contacts between Egypt and the neighbouring regions.

Middle Kingdom Studies Stephen Quirke, 1991 Studies on the Middle Kingdom Hans-Werner Fischer-Elfert, Richard B. Parkinson, 2013 The Middle Kingdom ca 2000-1700 BC was Detlef Franke's favorite period. 24.11.1952-2.9.2007 which he studied for most of his career. Based primarily on private documents from these centuries he became the first in Egyptology to reconstruct the Ancient Egyptian kinship system as a whole by also connecting the Egyptian system typologically with the ones known from cultural anthropology and other parts of the world. His range of research also encompassed studies on the specifics of Middle Kingdom kingship, administration, literature, chronology and the cult of Heqaib on Elephantine island. Volume 41 of Philippika is dedicated to his memory by friends and colleagues and presents a collection of studies of material only recently discovered or fresh research on well known subjects and inscriptions most of them covering his period. Among these is a paper which Detlef started to work on with his latest student and which is here published as a joint venture project. Other ones deal with issues drawn from the Old or New Kingdom. His Egyptological bequest including papers of his notes and collections of data on officials from the Middle Kingdom etc. was transferred to the British Museum London. There is also an announcement in this volume of how this personal archive may be accessed and used by colleagues interested in it. The Representations of Women in the Middle Kingdom Tombs of Officials Lubica Hudáková, 2019-07-22 In The Representations of Women in the Middle Kingdom Tombs of Officials Lubica Hudáková offers an in-depth analysis of female iconography in the decorative programme of Middle Kingdom non-royal tombs, highlighting changes and innovations in comparison to the Old Kingdom. Previously considered too uniform, the study represents the first systematic investigation of two-dimensional images of women and reveals their variability in space and time. Hudáková examines the roles appointed to women by analyzing how they are depicted in a variety of contexts. Taking into account their postures, gestures, garments, hairstyles, size of the body, age as well as attributes and tools used by them, along with the scene orientation, she traces diachronic and diatopic developments and regional traditions in the Middle Kingdom tomb decoration. The Middle Kingdom Ramesseum Papyri Tomb and its Archaeological Context Gianluca Minci, 2020-08-15 In 1895-96 William Matthew Flinders Petrie and James Edward Quibell discovered a shaft tomb below the Ramesseum, the funerary temple of Ramses II at Thebes, Egypt. This is most famous for having the largest group of Middle Kingdom papyri also known as the Ramesseum Papyri found in a single spot together with a number of distinctive objects such as carved ivory tusks and miniature figurines in various materials dated around XVIII century BC Gianluca Miniaci attempts to thoroughly reconstruct the archaeological context of the tomb the exact find spot forgotten afterwards its discovery the identity of its owner s and recipient s of the assemblage of artifacts A detailed analysis of the single artifacts provided for the first with full color photographic records and drawings and their network of relations gives new life to the Ramesseum assemblage after more than a century from its discovery

Alejandro Jiménez-Serrano, Antonio J. Morales, 2021-01-25 Middle Kingdom Palace Culture and Its Echoes in the Provinces addresses the significant gaps that remain in scholarly understanding about the origins and development of Egypt's Classical Age. The essays in this volume are the end result of a conference held at the University of Jaén in Spain to study the history, archaeology, art and language of the Middle Kingdom. Special attention is paid to provincial culture perspectives and historical realities. The distinguished group of Egyptologists from around the world gathered to consider the degree of influence that provincial developments played in reshaping the Egyptian state and its culture during the period. This volume aims to take a step towards a better understanding of the cultural renaissance including the ideological transformations and social reorganization that produced the Middle Kingdom.
