From the late 1940s until the early 1990s the Cold War was perhaps the most critical and defining aspect of American culture influencing television music and movies among other forms of popular entertainment Films in particular were at the center of the battle for the hearts and minds of the American public Throughout this period the Cold War influenced what movies got produced how such movies were made and how audiences understood the films they watched In the post Cold War era some genres of film suffered from the shift in our national narratives while others were quickly reimagined for an audience with different political and social fears In Hollywood and the End of the Cold War Signs of Cinematic Change Bryn Upton compares films from the late Cold War era with movies of similar themes from the post Cold War era In this volume Upton pays particular attention to shifts in narrative that reflect changes in American culture attitudes and ideas In exploring how the absence of the Cold War has changed the way we understand and interpret film this volume seeks to answer several key questions such as Has the end of the Cold War altered how we tell our stories Has it changed how we perceive ourselves In what ways has our popular culture been affected by the absence of this once dominant presence With its focus on themes that are central to the concerns of many historians including civil religion social fracture and the culture wars Hollywood and the End of the Cold War will serve as a useful tool for those seeking to integrate film into the classroom as well as for film scholars exploring representations of sociopolitical change on screen      Paperbound Books in Print , 1991      Uniform Trade List Annual , 1989      Literary Education and Other Essays Joseph Epstein, 2014-06-01 Who invented the personal essay That is hard to say The ancient Roman philosopher and cynical power broker Seneca The 16th century French philosopher Montaigne certainly brought it to a peak of perfection There were many 19th century masters not so many after that Who is the greatest living essayist writing in English That requires no debate at all It is unquestionably Joseph Epstein He is not only the best living essayist he is right up there in the company of Seneca and Montaigne but one of our own living in our era and dealing with our pleasures and travails Epstein is penetrating He is witty He has a magic touch with words that hard to define but immediately recognizable quality called style Above all he is impossible to put down Epstein reads omnivorously and brings us the best of what he reads passages that we would never have found on our own How easy it is today in the digital age drowning in emails and other ephemera to forget the simple delight of reading for no intended purpose Like any master essayist however this one brings us more than the shared experience of a lifetime of reading He brings us himself alternately scolding and charming sparkling and deep buoyant and sad zany and wise rebellious and conservative bookworm and sports fan clever and everyman debunker and preservationist deep into high culture deep into low culture curious fresh and settled in his ways This is the friend we all wish we could have the ideal humane companion
