Neil ten Kortenaar, 2004-01-21 Many non Indian readers find the historical and cultural references in Salman Rushdie's Midnight's Children demanding In his close reading of the novel Neil ten Kortenaar offers post colonial literary strategies for understanding Midnight's Children that also challenge some of the prevailing interpretations of the novel Using hybridity mimicry national allegory and cosmopolitanism all key critical concepts of postcolonial theory ten Kortenaar reads Midnight's Children as an allegory of history as a Bildungsroman and psychological study of a burgeoning national consciousness and as a representation of the nation He shows that the hybridity of Rushdie's fictional India is not created by different elements forming a whole but by the relationship among them Self Nation Text in Salman Rushdie's Midnight's Children also makes an original argument about how nation states are imagined and how national consciousness is formed in the citizen The protagonist Saleem Sinai heroically identifies himself with the state but this identification is beaten out of him until in the end he sees himself as the Common Man at the mercy of the state Ten Kortenaar reveals Rushdie's India to be more self-conscious than many communal identities based on language it is an India haunted by a dark twin called Pakistan a nation in the way England is a nation but imagined against England Mistrusting the openness of Tagore's Hindu India it is both cosmopolitan and a specific subjective location Midnight's Choice , African American Novels in the Black Lives

Matter Era E. Lâle Demirtürk, 2019-08-09 African American Novels in the Black Lives Matter Era Transgressive Performativity of Black Vulnerability as Praxis in Everyday Life explores the undoing of whiteness by black people who dissociate from scripts of black criminality through radical performative reiterations of black vulnerability It studies five novels that challenge the embodied discursive practices of whiteness in interracial social encounters showing how they use strategic performances of Blackness to enable subversive practices in everyday life which is constructed and governed by white mechanisms of racialized control The agency portrayed in these novels opens up alternative spaces of Blackness to impact the social world and effects transformative change as a forceful critique of everyday life African American Novels in the Black Lives Matter Era shows how these novels reformulate the problem of black vulnerability as a constitutive source of the right to life in their refusal of subjection to vulnerability enacted by white institutional and individual forms of violence It positions a white black encounter oriented reading of these neo resistance novels of the Black Lives Matter era as a critique of everyday life in an effort to explore spaces of radical performativity of blackness to make happen social change and transformation
