

A dramatic scene of an offshore oil rig engulfed in intense orange and yellow flames. A massive, dark plume of smoke billows from the burning structure, filling the upper half of the frame. In the foreground, a fireboat with a white superstructure and orange hull is positioned to the left, directing a powerful stream of water from its nozzle towards the burning rig. The water surface is dark and reflects the light from the fire. The overall atmosphere is one of a major industrial disaster.
