Migration Mobility And Modernization:

Migration, Mobility and Modernization David J. Siddle, 2000-01-01 For almost a hundred years the academic study of migration concentrated on evolving standardised models of migration behaviour based on data from censuses or the registration of births marriages and deaths More recently it has been realised that such models fail to take into account the decision making behind migration and that better understanding will come from study of the behaviour of individuals as well as aggregate numbers In this book the imaginative use of alternative sources DS for example apprentice books guild and craft records legal and court documents diaries and biographies DS gives fresh insights into the processes of movement to reveal much more complex circulatory behaviour than the standard models derived from census and registration sources alone have suggested The first chapter confronts the issue of rural mobility in post famine Ireland and is followed by a study centred on Alpine rural families which built impressive networks across pre industrial Western Europe Two chapters focus on the particular characteristics of worker groups mining families of south Lancashire during the period of rapid increase in coal production in the eighteenth century and the organised mobility of skilled labour in nineteenth century central Europe Next an imaginative and rigorous deployment of the techniques of family reconstruction and record linkage embracing a variety of sources vital event registers wills port books apprentice records teases out the migration histories of those who settled in eighteenth century Liverpool There are two chapters on female migrant behaviour drawing attention in the case of eighteenth century Rheims to the opportunities and restrictions on the life of migrant women at different points in their lifecycles and showing how poor women struggled to survive in nineteenth century Dublin The final chapter uses family histories assembled by numerous genealogists and family historians to challenge the orthodox view of direct stepwise migration from a smaller to a larger town in the urban hierarchy     The Idea of Work in Europe from Antiquity to Modern Times Josef Ehmer, Catharina Lis, 2009 Taking a broad chronological approach to the subject this book provides readers with a cutting edge overview of research into the varying attitudes towards work and its place in pre Industrial society This volume takes a fresh and innovative approach to the history of ideas of work concerning perceptions attitudes cultures and representations of work throughout Antiquity and the medieval and early modern periods Focusing on developments in Europe the contributors approach the subject from a variety of angles considering aspects of work as described in literature visual culture and as perceived in economic theory     Mobility and Modernity Steve Hochstadt, 1999-04-02 Demonstrates that traditional beliefs about migration are really modern myths     Diversity and Dissent Howard Louthan, Gary B. Cohen, Franz A. J. Szabo, 2011-03-01 Early modern Central Europe was the continent s most decentralized region politically and its most diverse ethnically and culturally With the onset of the Reformation it also became Europe s most religiously divided territory and potentially its most explosive in terms of confessional conflict and war Focusing on the Holy Roman Empire and the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth this volume examines the tremendous challenge of managing confessional diversity in Central Europe between 1500 and 1800 Addressing issues of tolerance intolerance and ecumenism each chapter explores a facet of the complex dynamic between the state and the region s Catholic Protestant Orthodox Utraquist and Jewish communities The development of religious toleration one of the most debated questions of the early modern period is examined here afresh with careful consideration of the factors and conditions that led to both confessional concord and religious violence

Essays on Modernization of Underdeveloped Societies ,1976 Micro-Approaches to Demographic Research John Caldwell,Allan Hill,Valerie J. Hull,2023-10-02 Originally published in 1988 this collection of essays was the first attempt by population scientists to incorporate some of the methods and materials of anthropologists into their work The essays bridge the gap in the conceptualisation and organisation of field research by 2 sets of social scientists demographers and social anthropologists who share an interest in the explanation of particular patterns of population composition and change

Freedom of Movement in the Middle Ages Peregrine Horden,2007 Making Population Geography Adrian Bailey,2014-05-01 Making Population Geography is a lively account of the intellectual history of population geography arguing that while population geography may drift in and out of fashion it must continue to supplement its demographic approach with a renewed emphasis on cultural and political accounts of compelling population topics such as HIV AIDS sex trafficking teen pregnancy citizenship and global ageing in order for it to shed light on contemporary society Making Population Geography draws both on the writings of those like Wilbur Zelinsky and Pat Gober who were at the very epicentre of spatial science in the 1960s and those like Michael Brown and Yvonne Underhill Sem whose post punk introspections of method content and purpose now push the field in new directions Using a wide range of case studies contemporary examples and current research the book links the rise and fall of the key concepts in population geography to the changing social and economic context and to geographys turn towards social theory Referencing the authors classroom experiences both in the US and the UK Making Population Geography will appeal to students studying geography population issues and the development of critical scholarship

Crime and Modernization Louise I. Shelley,1981 In this pioneering analysis of the influence exerted by modernization and socioeconomic evolution on patterns of crime criminologist Louise I Shelley asserts Society gets the type and level of criminality its conditions produce Shelley investigates crime patterns in undeveloped capitalist countries in developed capitalist countries and in Socialist countries Her study is unique in that she alone synthesizes his torical accounts of crime and civil disorder with the literature of modern urban studies and contemporary criminality Through her cross cultural and historical approach she demonstrates that contrary to what seems apparent the global profile of crime is not that of a maniacal pillaging monster The monster is sane Crime patterns are predictable By analyzing the criminal population recent crime trends the impact of the criminal jus tice system and the predominant values of society Shelley makes informed predictions concerning the future state of criminality Shelley addresses six issues She considers ways in which modernization has affected rates of crime during the initial and later stages of a society s development She asks how moderni zation affects the rates of occurrence of fundamental forms of crime Another question is whether development changes the relationship between crimes against property and crimes of vio lence against people Does the speed of the transition from un developed to developed society alter observable patterns of be havior And finally does modernization change the nature of the criminal population In this book Shelley provides both historical and contempo rary perspectives from which to view the impact of the develop mental process on levels and forms of criminality She synthe sizes the large body of literature aimed at measuring the extent to which socioeconomic development produces similar changes in culturally distinct and geographically separated nations Local Population Studies, 1996 C.R.I.S., 1977 International Review of Social History, 1956 "Changing Fate" Helena Obendiek, 2016 In this compelling ethnography of the causes and effects of educational desire in an extremely impoverished corner of Gansu province Helena Obendiek pays particular attention to the complex social networks which fund students education placing them in relations of debt to their home villages and extended families Her fieldwork took her to these villages to the county high schools and to the urban settings where the educationally successful attempt to land jobs The result is a rich and holistic portrait Andrew Kipnis Australian National University Organizing Through Division and Exclusion Fei-Ling Wang, 2005 This is an original and comprehensive examination of China s hukou household registration system a system that fundamentally determines the Chinese way of life and shapes China s sociopolitical structure and socioeconomic development C.R.I.S. Annadel N. Wile, Arnold Jaffe, 1978 Egalitarianism in Scandinavia Synnøve Bendixsen, Mary Bente Bringslid, Halvard Vike, 2017-08-17 This book discusses egalitarianism in Scandinavian countries through historically oriented and empirically based studies on social and political change The chapters engage with issues related to social class political conflict the emergence of the welfare state public policy and conceptualizations of equality Throughout the contributors discuss and sometimes challenge existing notions of the social and cultural complexity of Scandinavia For example how does egalitarianism in these nations differ from other contemporary manifestations of egalitarianism Is it meaningful to continue to nurture the idea of Scandinavian exceptionalism in an age of economic crises and globalization The book also proposes that egalitarianism is not merely a relationship between specific influential enlightenment ideas and patterns of policy but an aspect of social organization characterized by specific forms of political tension mobilization and conflict resolution as well as emerging cultural values such as individual autonomy      European Migrants Dirk Hoerder, Leslie Page Moch, 1996 Nine essays on migration between 1840 and 1914 that place migrants in local and global contexts      Excerpta Indonesica , 1988
