Migration And Anthropology:

Migration Theory Caroline Brettell, James Frank Hollifield, 2000 First published in 2000 Anthropology and Migration Caroline Brettell, 2003 Brettell's new book provides new insight into the processes of migration and transnationalism from an anthropological perspective. She analyzes macro and micro approaches to migration theory utilizing her extensive fieldwork in Portugal and many other countries. Key issues she discusses include immigrant incorporation vs assimilation models, the impacts on individual household and community as well as institutions and states, ethnic group composition, illegal immigration, city vs suburban enclaves, ethnic entrepreneurship, the role of religion, men and women as migrants, and the use of oral histories in understanding immigration and the mediation of new social boundaries. This book will be indispensable to instructors and researchers in anthropology, race and ethnic studies, immigration studies, urban studies, sociology, and international relations. Throughout its hundred odd year history, studies of migration and diverse or plural societies have arguably been both marginal and central to the discipline of Anthropology. However, recent years have witnessed the rapid growth of anthropological studies concerning these topics. This has particularly been the case since the 1970s when anthropologists developed a keen interest in the subject of ethnicity, especially in post-migration communities. Since the 1990s, migrant transnationalism has become one of the most fashionable topics. There is still much to do in research and theory surrounding this field, not least with regard to contemporary public debates around multiculturalism, immigration and integration policy. This book presents essays pointing toward a number of possible new directions both theoretical and methodological for anthropological inquiry into migration and multiculturalism, including innovative ways of examining diversity discourses, urban conditions, social complexities, scales of analysis, transnational marriages, entangled politics and interwoven cultures. This book was published as a special issue of the Ethnic and Racial Studies. Migration and Anthropology American Ethnological Society Annual Spring Meeting, Robert F. Spencer, 1970 Anthropology and Migration Caroline B. Brettell, 2003-09-08 Brettell's new book provides new insight into the processes of migration and transnationalism from an anthropological perspective. It has been estimated at the turn of the millennium that 160 million people are living outside of their country of birth or citizenship. The author analyzes macro and micro approaches to migration theory utilizing her extensive fieldwork in Portugal as well as research in Germany, Brazil, France, the United States and Canada. Key issues she discusses include the value of immigrant incorporation vs assimilation models, the impacts on individual household and community as well as institutions and states, the role of ethnicity and ethnic groups, the effects of clandestine or illegal immigration, the differing commitments to host vs sending communities, the shift from city enclaves to suburban areas, the constraints and opportunities that lead to ethnic entrepreneurship, the role of religion in transnational linkages and the differing experiences of men and women as migrants Brettell also explores the relevance of life histories and oral narratives in understanding the immigration process and the mediation of boundaries in a new society This book provides a fresh perspective on the contemporary experience of migration and will be indispensable to instructors and researchers in anthropology race and ethnic studies immigration studies urban studies sociology and international relations Migration in the 21st Century Pauline Gardiner Barber,Winnie Lem,2012-08-21 This edited collection focuses on global migration in its inter regional international and transnational variants and argues that contemporary migration scholarship is significantly advanced both within anthropology and beyond it when ethnography is theoretically engaged to grapple with the social consequences and asymmetries of twenty first century capitalism s global modalities Drawn from settings across the globe case studies explore the nuanced formations of class and power within particular migration flows while addressing the complex analytics of a contemporary critical political economy of migration Subjects include global migrants as capitalists entrepreneurs and cosmopolitans as well as workers and immigrants who are subject to varying degrees of precariousness under intensified competition for profits within contemporary global economies By re addressing the question of the relationship between changes in global capitalism and migration the book aims for a timely intervention into the debates on migration which have come to be one of the most contentious emotionally fraught issues in North America and Europe

Rethinking Anthropological Perspectives on Migration Graciela S. Cabana,Jeffery J. Clark,2020-03-17 Rethinking Anthropological Perspectives on Migration brings together these new methods in one volume and addresses innovative approaches to migration research that emerge from the collective effort of scholars from different intellectual backgrounds Its contributors present a comprehensive anthropological exploration of the many topics related to human migration throughout the world ranging from theoretical treatments to specific case studies derived primarily from the Americas prior to European contact Human Migration María de Lourdes Muñoz-Moreno,Michael H. Crawford,2021 This book combines the most recent research in population development human genetics archaeology anthropology biology linguistics and more to create a comprehensive picture of human migratory patterns Migration - Networks - Skills Astrid Wonneberger,Mijal Gandelsman-Trier,Hauke Dorsch,2016-05-15 Migration networks skills these keywords not only denote three popular and important fields of current investigation in Social Sciences and Cultural Studies they also mark the wide range of interests of cultural and social anthropologist Waltraud Kokot who is to be honoured in this Festschrift Internationally distinguished scholars from five European countries and various academic disciplines present their most recent research findings on topics such as diaspora and migration studies urban anthropology and the anthropology of crafts all of which are connected by the common themes of mobility and transformation Cultures of Migration Jeffrey H. Cohen,Ibrahim Sirkeci,2011-09-01 Around the globe people leave their homes to better themselves to satisfy needs and to care for their families They also migrate to escape undesirable conditions ranging from a lack of economic opportunities to violent conflicts at home or in the community. Most studies of migration have analyzed the topic at either the macro level of national and global economic and political forces or the micro level of the psychology of individual migrants. Few studies have examined the culture of migration that is the cultural beliefs and social patterns that influence people to move. Cultures of Migration combines anthropological and geographical sensibilities as well as sociological and economic models to explore the household level decision making process that prompts migration. The authors draw their examples not only from their previous studies of Mexican Oaxacans and Turkish Kurds but also from migrants from Europe, sub-Saharan Africa, the Pacific and many parts of Asia. They examine social, economic and political factors that can induce a household to decide to send members abroad along with the cultural beliefs and traditions that can limit migration. The authors look at both transnational and internal migrations and at shorter and longer term stays in the receiving location. They also consider the effect that migration has on those who remain behind. The authors' culture of migration model adds an important new dimension to our understanding of the cultural beliefs and social patterns associated with migration and will help specialists better respond to increasing human mobility.

American Arrivals Nancy Foner, 2003 Table of contents Migration and Economy Lillian Trager, 2005 Focuses on migration not as a single event but as a dynamic process that responds to and is shaped by broader economic, cultural and social forces. This title features individual essays that offer studies on Mexico, Puerto Rico, West Africa, Kazakhstan and Mozambique. It is useful for development anthropology, migration studies and more. This book focuses on the historical sociology of the Turkish state. It seeks to compare the development of the Ottoman Turkish state with similar processes of large scale historical change in Europe identified by Michael Mann in The Sources of Social Power. It traces the contours of Turkey's modernisation with the intention of formulating a fresh way to approach state development in countries on the global economic periphery, particularly those attempting to effect closer ties with Northern markets. It also highlights matters of social change pertinent to states grappling with issues relating to political Islam, minority identity and irredentist dissent.

Biological Aspects of Human Migration C. G. Nicholas Mascie-Taylor, Gabriel W. Lasker, 1988-01-29 An examination of migration as an important cause of change in the genetic and demographic structure of human populations.

A Literary Anthropology of Migration and Belonging Cicilie Fagerlid, Michelle A. Tisdel, 2020-01-30 This collection pushes migration and the minor to the fore of literary anthropology. What happens when authors who thematize their minority background articulate notions of belonging self and society in literature? The contributors use interface ethnography and fieldwork on foot to analyze a broad selection of literature and processes of dialogic engagement. The chapters discuss German speaking Herta Müller's perpetual minority status in Romania, Bengali Scottish Bashabi Fraser and the potentiality of poetry, vagrant pastoralism and heritagization in Puglia, Italy, the self representation of European Muslims post 9/11 in Zeshan Shakar's acclaimed Norwegian novel, the autobiographical narratives of Loveleen Rihel Brenna and the artist collective Queendom in Norway, the immigrant as a permanent guest in Spanish language children's literature and Slovenian roots.

searching in Argentina This anthology examines the generative and transformative potentials of storytelling while illustrating that literary anthropology is well equipped to examine the multiple contexts that literature engages Chapter 4 of this book is available open access under a CC By 4 0 license at link springer com Migration and Economy Lillian Trager,2005-10-13

Trager and her coauthors focus on migration not as a single event but as a dynamic process that responds to and is shaped by broader economic cultural and social forces Individual essays consider issues of international and internal migration of voluntary migration and forced movements due to civil conflicts and environmental degradation and of macro level forces and micro level institutions The authors investigate a wide variety of types of mobility describe transnational and multilocal networks through which remittances and other flows take place focus on migrants as active agents and examine the impacts of ethnicity and assimilation They offer original studies on Mexico Puerto Rico West Africa Kazakstan and Mozambique This new volume will be a valuable resource for researchers and practitioners in development anthropology migration studies and international planning and policy Mediating Mobility Steffen Köhn,2016-03-08

Images have become an integral part of the political regulation of migration they help produce categories of legality versus illegality foster stereotypes and mobilize political convictions Yet how are we to understand the relationship between these images and the political in the discourse surrounding migration How can we as anthropologists migration scholars or documentary filmmakers visually represent people who are excluded from political representation And how can such visual representations gain political momentum This volume not only considers the images that circulate with reference to migrants or draw attention to those that accompany show or conceal them The book explores the phenomena of migration with the help of images It offers an in depth analysis of the documentary approaches of Ursula Biemann Renzo Martens Bouchra Khalili Silvain George Raphael Cuomo and Maria Iorio Alex Rivera and Rania Stepha which evoke the particularities of migrant lifeworlds and examine urgent questions regarding the interrelations between politics and poetics mobility and mediation and the ethics of probability and possibility The author also discusses his own cinematic practice in the making of Tell Me When 2011 A Tale of Two Islands 2012 and Intimate Distance 2015 a trilogy of films that explore the potential to communicate the bodily spatial and temporal dimensions of the experience of migration Insider Research on Migration and Mobility Lejla Voloder,Liudmila Kirpitchenko,2016-05-23

With an increasing proportion of migration and mobility field studies being conducted by migrants and members of ethnic minorities in home contexts the implications of insider research are increasingly subject critical scrutiny Researchers who may share migration experiences or cultural ethnic linguistic or religious identities with their participants are exploring the means ethics and politics of mobilizing insider capital for the purpose of gaining access to and representing research participants Bringing together the latest international scholarship in the sociology and anthropology of migration this volume explores the complexities joys and frustrations of conducting insider research The book offers analyses of key methodological ethical and epistemological challenges faced by migration researchers as they question the ways in which they come to identify with their research topic or their participants Addressing questions of identity and categorization ethics and methodology epistemology and situated knowledge Insider Research on Migration and Mobility will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in migration mobilities diaspora studies and ethnic and racial identities as well as those interested in qualitative research design and analysis

Migrants of Identity Andrew Dawson,Nigel

Rapport,2021-01-07 Global movement is commonly characterized as one of the quintessential experiences of our age Market forces territorial conflicts and environmental changes uproot an increasing number of people while mass communication travel tourism and a global market of commodities texts tastes fashions and ideologies place individuals more than ever in a global arena As traditional conceptions of individuals as members of stationary fixed and separate societies and cultures no longer convince to what extent does movement become central to individuals self conceptions How do people cultivate negotiate nurture and maintain an identity To what extent do individuals become migrants of identity whose home is movement Defining home as where one best knows oneself this pioneering book explores the various ways in which people perceive themselves to be at home in today s world Through a series of case studies authors show that for a world of travellers labour migrants exiles and commuters home comes to be found in behavioural routines and techniques in styles of dress and address in memories myths and stories in jokes and opinions In short people who live their lives in movement make sense of their lives as movement

Wind Over Water David W. Haines,Keiko Yamanaka,Shinji Yamashita,2012 Providing a comprehensive treatment of a full range of migrant destinies in East Asia by scholars from both Asia and North America this volume captures the way migrants are changing the face of Asia especially in cities such as Beijing Hong Kong Hamamatsu

Osaka Tokyo and Singapore It investigates how the crossing of geographical boundaries should also be recognized as a crossing of cultural and social categories that reveals the extraordinary variation in the migrants origins and trajectories

These migrants span the spectrum from Korean bar hostesses in Osaka to African entrepreneurs in Hong Kong from Vietnamese women seeking husbands across the Chinese border to Pakistani Muslim men marrying women in Japan from short term business travelers in China to long term tourists from Japan who ultimately decide to retire overseas Illuminating the ways in which an Asian based analysis of migration can yield new data on global migration patterns the contributors provide important new theoretical insights for a broader understanding of global migration and innovative methodological approaches to the spatial and temporal complexity of human migration

From Cuenca to Queens Ann Miles,2004-05-01
