Migration Urbanization And Development:

Migration, Urbanization, and Development Richard E. Bilborrow, 1998 Internal migration and urbanization are key dimensions of the process of socioeconomic development The unprecedented movement of peoples within the borders of their own countries is one of the greatest transformations witnessed in the 20th century Policy analysts especially those from developing countries where internal migration can be felt at first hand view migration as one of the most important factors affecting the course of development It is within this context that UNFPA convened the Symposium on Internal Migration and Urbanization in Developing Countries in January 1996 in preparation for the United Nations World Conference on Human Settlements in Istanbul in June 1996 The final results of the symposium are found in this book This volume provides a better understanding at global level of internal migration issues of concern to policy analysts

Migration, Urbanization, and Development: New Directions and Issues Richard E. Bilborrow, 2014-01-14 International migration and urbanization are key dimensions of the process of socioeconomic development The unprecedented movement of peoples within the borders of their own countries is undoubtedly one of the greatest transformations of humankind witnessed in the 20th century International migration while it has received perhaps less attention is an equally important process in many societies Policy analysts especially those from developing countries where the phenomenon of internal migration can be felt first hand view migration as among the most important factors affecting the course of development They consistently report that understanding the causes and effects of internal migration and urbanization is vital to putting in place policies to cope with the stresses and harness the potentials of migration in the most efficient way possible The world's population will surpass the 6 billion mark in 1998 In just a few years more another demographic landmark will be reached when over half of the world's population will be urban dwellers From that point on the world is forecast to become increasingly urban Latin America has already gone through this urban revolution and now has an urban population about three times larger than its rural population In the area of urbanization the greatest changes in the future will occur in Africa and Asia whose populations are still only about 35 percent urban

Urbanization and Growth Michael Spence, Patricia Clarke Annez, Robert M. Buckley, 2008-11-26 Why is productivity higher in cities Does urbanization cause growth or does growth cause urbanization Do countries achieve rapid growth or high incomes without urbanization How can policy makers reap the benefits of urbanization without paying too high a cost Does supporting urbanization imply neglecting rural areas Why do so few governments welcome urbanization What should governments do to improve housing conditions in cities as they urbanize Are innovations in housing finance a blessing or a curse for developing countries How will governments finance the trillions of dollars of infrastructure spending needed for cities in developing countries First in a series of thematic volumes this book was prepared for the Commission on Growth and Development to evaluate the state of knowledge of the relationship between urbanization and economic growth It does not pretend to provide all the answers but it does identify insights and policy levers to help countries make urbanization work as part of a national growth strategy It examines a variety of topics the relevance and policy implications of recent advances in urban economics for developing countries the role of economic geography in global economic trends and trade patterns the impacts of urbanization on spatial inequality within countries and alternative approaches to financing the substantial infrastructure investments required in developing country cities Written by prominent academics in their fields Urbanization and Growth seeks to create a better understanding of the role of urbanization in growth and to inform policy makers tackling the formidable challenges it poses
