Paratroopers Odyssey:

Paratroopers' Odyssey, 1985 US World War II Parachute Infantry Regiments Gordon L. Rottman, 2014-01-20 The parachute infantry regiments were among the most highly decorated US Army units of World War II and between them they saw action right across the world. The elite nature of these units led to them being committed to action not only in the way that had been intended, their quality tempted commanders to keep them in the line longer than their light armament justified and they were tested to the limit. This engaging study traces the story of each of the 17 regiments from their creation and training in the USA through their deployments overseas to their combat jumps and all their battles. The book is illustrated with wartime photographs many previously unpublished and eight full colour plates detailing the specifics of their uniforms, insignia and equipment practices which often differed from unit to unit. US Airborne Units in the Mediterranean Theater 1942-44 Gordon L. Rottman, 2013-07-20 This book is the first of three to examine the genesis, organization and operational deployment of the US airborne divisions in World War II. It discusses early airborne units, detailing how and why they were formed. Task organization for combat, details of attached units, tactics and weapons and equipment are examined together with command relationships. The units discussed in this book include the 82d Airborne Division, 1st Special Service Force, 517th Parachute Regimental Combat Team and 1st Airborne Task Force and the operations in North Africa, Sicily, the Italian mainland and in southern France are covered.

Major General Melvin Zais And Hamburger Hill Major Kelly Owen Carl Boian, 2014-08-15 Includes 14 maps and diagrams. Major General Melvin Zais, a second generation Russian American, orchestrated the battle between the 29th Regiment of the People's Army of Vietnam and the 101st Airborne Division around Dong Ap Bia Hamburger Hill, Vietnam. General Zais focused operations on and around Hamburger Hill to prevent build up of men, weapons and supplies in the A Shau Valley which would have allowed for VC and NVA forces to conduct another Tet Offensive. As General Zais developed the situation in Thau Thien Provence, similarities can be drawn to an offensive he assisted in coordinating within southern France in World War II. This familiarity in size of terrain, enemy presence and friendly tactical actions assisted Zais in his understanding of the situation and conducting continuous assaults up the 937 meters of Dong Ap Bia to destroy the 29th Regiment of the People's Army of Vietnam and prevent the perceived threat of another Tet Offensive.

The Riviera at War George G. Kundahl, 2017-05-30 During World War II three distinct forces opposed the Allies: Germany, Italy and Japan. Few areas of the world experienced domination by more than a single one of these but southeastern France, the region popularly known as the Riviera or Côte d'Azur, was one. Not only did inhabitants suffer through Italian Fascism and German Nazism but also under a third hardship at times even more oppressive: the rule of Vichy France. Following a nine month prelude, the reality of World War II burst onto the Riviera in June 1940 when the region had to defend itself against the Italian army and ended in April 1945 with a battle against German and Italian forces in April 1945, a period longer than any other part of France. In this book, George G. Kundahl tells for the first time the full story of World War II on the French Riviera. Featuring previously unseen sources and photographs this will be essential reading for anyone interested in wartime France The Making of a Paratrooper Kurt Gabel, 1990 This is a memoir of paratrooper Kurt Gabel a German Jew who emigrated to the US in 1938 joined the 513th Regiment of the 17th Airborne Division and fought against his former countrymen in the Battle of the Bulge Battling Buzzards Gerald Astor, 2009-04-02 The Few and the Brave Convinced by 1943 that the assault upon Nazi held Europe would yield swiftly to elite troops the U S Army created parachute regimental combat teams Drawing on daring volunteers willing to hurl themselves from airplanes and hit the ground fighting the 517th PRCT became one of the most highly trained airborne units in the world Blooded in northern Italy in 1944 the Battling Buzzards dropped at night in southern France for the second D day to spearhead a savage advance through the Champagne region and then into the Alps Gerald Astor acclaimed author of A Blood Dimmed Tide draws on the words of the men of the 517th to create this gripping action packed account of a unit that existed for only two years but fought heroically to defeat the vaunted German forces From its campaign in Italy to its assault in the French Alps the Battling Buzzards helped push the Germans out of southern Europe one fierce close quarter battle at a time Then after six months of nonstop action the exhausted battle hardened 517th was called into the ultimate battle at a place called The Bulge The Paratroopers of the French Foreign Legion Howard R. L. Collins, David M. Skover, 2005 This book explores one of the most disturbing intellectual dilemmas of our time that our beloved First Amendment is being exploited in the name of the dumbing of America It is the first book to examine the popular culture of the First Amendment specifically with reference to television advertising and pornography Comparing the culture of popular discourse with traditional First Amendment ideals the authors expose the vast gap between our speech practices and our speech principles Is the tyranny of the trivialization of discourse a problem In a dialogue like way the authors invite their readers to judge The second edition preserves the first edition s mind boggling and mirthful stories of America s mass media exploits A new Foreword examines recent events for example the American mass commercial entertainment culture after September 11th and a new and lengthy Afterword offers a dialogue with the book s readers and critics This is a significant and original scholarly work Ronald Collins and David Skover boldly raise hard questions both philosophical and practical that are seldom considered by liberals or conservatives when discussing free speech Why do we value freedom of speech and press Do we dare discuss values and purposes or is the case for free speech merely speech for speech s sake What limits on freedom can be justified As if this were not enough Collins and Skover directly confront even more novel and difficult questions What is becoming of the culture of discourse in America What has become of the Madisonian experiment in freedom How if at all do its profound purposes find expression in today s electronic and commercial marketplaces Does the culture of mass and popular expression suggest new purposes ones radically different from those envisioned by the Framers Collins and Skover confront these questions wrestle with them dauntlessly and as a result give us a book that is a brilliant cantankerous vivid provocative and genuinely refreshing examination of freedom of expression in modern America For Collins and Skover there is great thrill in the Socratic chase as they cope with the complex issues they raise Their book is written in crisp readable English and is thoughtfully playful It is an artful work that invites readers to consider the world of discourse as it was is and may be The Death of Discourse is literary dynamite ready to demolish the pomp and hypocrisy obstructing the proud edifice of the First Amendment This book poses a clear and present danger in the most deserving sense Leonard W Levy American historian Pulitzer Prize recipient and author of Emergence of a Free Press A Guide to Films Featured in the Jewish Film Festival Deborah Kaufman, Janis Plotkin, Rena Orenstein, 1991 Sainik Samachar, 1984
