Taking "no" for an Answer and Other Skills Children Need Laurie Simons, 2000 Recommended by the Boy Scouts of America's Scouting magazine for parents Taking No for an Answer introduces twelve basic skills that prevent or squelch common family problems These skills include listening making appropriate requests following directions problem solving and respecting boundaries To teach these skills author Laurie Simons developed more than 50 games to help you and your children have fun while learning to change negative family behavior The games are presented in an easy to follow recipe format with engaging illustrations Taking No for an Answer helps you prevent common family problems before they happen or stop them if interaction is out of hand Publisher website

The Parent/Child Game Sue Jenner, 2008 Bringing up children is one of the most difficult tasks in the world and potentially one of the most rewarding Loving and conveying love may seem to be instinctive skills but they can also be worked on and improved and it is now established that parenting is not necessarily an inherent talent but is something that can be learned Parents need no longer feel guilty incompetent or useless when family relationships aren't what they should be nor do children have to feel unloved ignored or misunderstood Good parenting skills learned now will be absorbed by the next generation thus breaking the vicious cycle that can degenerate from toddler tantrums via teenage delinquency to adult crime and yet more unhappy families In her work as a clinical psychologist with families from many cultures Sue Jenner has experienced great success with the technique known to psychologists as the Parent Child Game This is the first book to present this technique to a non academic readership The simple but incredibly effective written with honesty compassion and humour Drawing on many years of professional practice as well as hands on experience as a mother stepmother and grandmother Sue points the way to a happier life for both parents and children Parents VS Kids Game Simone
