Parental Priorities And Economic Inequality:

Parental Priorities and Economic Inequality Casey B. Mulligan, 1997 Focuses on intergenerational mobility and intergenerational transmission of inequality

Parental Education and Children's Schooling Outcomes Damien de Walque, 2005 Educated parents tend to have educated children But is intergenerational transmission of human capital more nature more nurture or both De Walque uses household survey data from Rwanda that contains a large proportion of children living in households without their biological parents The data allows him to separate genetic from environmental parental influences The nonrandom placement of children is controlled by including the educational attainment of the absent biological parents and the type of relationship that links the children to their adoptive families The results of the analysis suggest that the nurture component of the intergenerational transmission of human capital is important for both parents contrary to recent evidence proposed by Behrman and Rosenzweig 2002 and Plug 2004 The author concludes that mothers education had no environmental impact on children s schooling Interestingly mothers education matters more for girls while fathers education is more important for boys Finally an important policy recommendation in the African context emerges from the analysis the risk for orphans or abandoned children to lose ground in their schooling achievements is minimized if they are placed with relatives Abstract

The Chicago School Johan Van Overtveldt, 2009-03-01 This admirably detailed and thoroughly welcome history provides a fascinating examination of a pivotal moment in the evolution of economic theory The Economist When Richard Nixon said We are all Keynesians now in 1971 few could have predicted that the next three decades would result in a complete transformation of the global economic landscape The transformation was led by a small relatively obscure group within the University of Chicago s business school and its departments of economics and political science These thinkers including Milton Friedman Gary Becker George Stigler Robert Lucas and others revolutionized economic orthodoxy in the second half of the 20th century dominated the Nobel Prizes awarded in economics and changed how business is done around the world Written by a leading European economic thinker The Chicago School is the first in depth look at how this remarkable group came together Exhaustively detailed it provides a close recounting of the decade by decade progress of the Chicago School s evolution As such it s an essential contribution to the intellectual history of our time

Behavioral Interactions, Markets, and Economic Dynamics Shinsuke Ikeda, Hideaki Kiyoshi Kato, Fumio Ohtake, Yoshiro Tsutsui, 2015-09-12 This book collects important contributions in behavioral economics and related topics mainly by Japanese researchers to provide new perspectives for the future development of economics and behavioral economics The volume focuses especially on economic studies that examine interactions of multiple agents and or market phenomena by using behavioral economics models Reflecting the diverse fields of the editors the book captures broad influences of behavioral economics on various topics in economics Those subjects include parental altruism economic growth and development the relative and permanent income hypotheses wealth distribution asset price bubbles auctions search contracts personnel management and market efficiency and anomalies in financial markets The chapter authors have added newly written addenda to the original articles in which they address their own subsequent works supplementary analyses detailed information on the underlying data and or recent literature surveys This will help readers to further understand recent developments in behavioral economics and related research     Using Data to Improve Higher Education Maria Eliophotou Menon,Dawn Geronimo Terkla,Paul Gibbs,2014-11-26 In recent decades higher education systems and institutions have been called to respond to an unprecedented number of challenges Major challenges     Southern Economic Journal ,1998

The New Palgrave Dictionary of Economics ,2016-05-18 The award winning The New Palgrave Dictionary of Economics 2nd edition is now available as a dynamic online resource Consisting of over 1 900 articles written by leading figures in the field including Nobel prize winners this is the definitive scholarly reference work for a new generation of economists Regularly updated This product is a subscription based product     Journal of Economic Literature ,2000

Handbook of Economic Growth Philippe Aghion,Steven Durlauf,2013-12-20 Volumes 2A and 2B of The Handbook of Economic Growth summarize recent advances in theoretical and empirical work while offering new perspectives on a range of growth mechanisms from the roles played by institutions and organizations to the ways factors beyond capital accumulation and technological change can affect growth Written by research leaders the chapters summarize and evaluate recent advances while explaining where further research might be profitable With analyses that are provocative and controversial because they are so directly relevant to public policy and private decision making these two volumes uphold the standard for excellence in applied economics set by Volumes 1A and 1B 2005 Offers definitive theoretical and empirical scholarship about growth economics Empowers readers to evaluate the work of other economists and to plan their own research projects Demonstrates the value of empirical testing with its implicit conclusion that our understanding of economic growth will help everyone make better decisions     Wealth Inequality and Intergenerational Links Mariacristina De Nardi,2002     Inequality in Incomes and Access to Education Daniele Checchi,1999     The American Economic Review ,2004     The Effect of Parents' Employment on Children's Educational Attainment John Ermisch,Marco Francesconi,2000 This paper presents the conditions under which a causal interpretation can be given to the association between childhood parental employment and subsequent education of children In a model in which parental preferences are separable in own consumption and children s wellbeing estimation is complicated by endowment heterogeneity and by the fact that parents may compensate or reinforce children s endowments relevant to educational attainment A sibling difference estimation strategy is generally not sufficient to provide a consistent estimate of the parameter of interest Identification rests on two stronger assumptions about the timing of parents knowledge of their children s endowments and about the technology used to produce children s human capital We find a negative and significant effect on the child s educational attainment of the extent of mother s full time employment when the child was aged 0 5 The effects of mother s part time employment and father's employment are smaller and less well determined but again negative. In the context of our conditional demand function framework these results suggest that a higher full family income increases the educational attainment of children and given full family income a higher mother's or father's wage reduces their children's educational attainment.
