Collecting Asian Art Markéta Hánová, Yuka Kadoi, Simone Wille, 2024-02-29 Rather than centering on the well known collections in Western European and North American museums Collecting Asian Art turns to museum collections of Asian art in Central Europe which emerged from the late 19th century onwards Highlighting the dimensions of Central European connectedness this volume explores how these collections evolved and changed under changing cultural and political conditions from the pre World War I to the post World War II periods With a primary focus on collections of East Asian South Asian and West Asian art in Vienna Prague Berlin Warsaw Kraków Budapest and Ljubljana it outlines the transregional connections and networks that gradually developed Collecting Asian Art locates Asian art across the twentieth century in Central Europe via discourse and ideology and discusses key collections and the way individual collectors built their networks It thus explores transregional connections that developed through collecting activities and strategies in the prewar interwar and postwar eras Contributors also examine the personal connections between a group of Indologists from postwar Prague and modernist Indian artists from the early 1950s to the 1980s and also discuss the systematic archiving of East Asian art collections in Slovenia A concluding conversation looks at colonisation and decolonisation from a broader perspective by approaching it through recent art historical discussions on the global dimensions of modernism By defining the region through its external relationships and its entanglements with regions across Asia rather than as a self contained unit the contributions in this volume outline how these transregional connections and networks evolved and changed over time thus highlighting their singularity in comparison to developments in Western Europe Based on recent research Collecting Asian Art reveals neglected sources while reinterpreting well known ones     Paris, 2008     British Writers and Paris Elisabeth Jay, 2016 Using a wealth of contemporary sources this book tells the story of the way in which the turbulent hedonistic world of mid nineteenth century Paris touched the careers and work of a host of Victorian writers major and minor It attends both to the way writers actually experienced life in a capital city markedly different from London and to how they retailed this to a swiftly growing British readership En route it reveals the cosmopolitan world of the salons and the social life of the British Embassy demonstrates the risky competitive world of the freelance journalist traces the developing role of the foreign correspondent and examines the sometimes contradictory prejudices about Paris and the Parisians contained in contemporary fiction Casting a wide literary net the first part of this book explores these writers reaction to the swiftly changing politics and topography of Paris before considering the nature of their social interactions with the Parisians through networks provided by institutions such as the British Embassy and the salons The second part of the book examines the significance of Paris for mid nineteenth century Anglophone journalists paying particular attention to the ways in which the young Thackeray s exposure to Parisian print culture shaped him as both writer and artist The final part focuses on fictional representations of Paris revealing the frequency with which they relied upon previous literary sources and how the surprisingly narrow palette of subgenres structures and characters they employed contributed to the characteristic and sometimes contradictory prejudices of a swiftly growing British readership Living and Working in Paris Alan Hart, 2001 Following the success of the author s Living and Working in France this is a comprehensive handbook for anyone relocating studying temping working on contract or buying a second home in Paris The book includes useful contacts and websites
