Paris Scene:

History of the War Between Germany and France James D. McCabe, 1871 A History of Balance, 1250-1375 Joel Kaye, 2014-04-03 The ideal of balance and its association with what is ordered just and healthful remained unchanged throughout the medieval period. The central place allotted to balance in the workings of nature and society also remained unchanged. What changed within the culture of scholasticism between approximately 1280 and 1360 was the emergence of a greatly expanded sense of what balance is and can be. In this groundbreaking history of balance Joel Kaye reveals that this new sense of balance and its potentialities became the basis of a new model of equilibrium shaped and shared by the most acute and innovative thinkers of the period. Through a focus on four disciplines scholastic economic thought, political thought, medical thought and natural philosophy, Kaye's book reveals that this new model of equilibrium opened up striking new vistas of imaginative and speculative possibility making possible a profound re-thinking of the world and its workings. Broadway Musicals, 1943-2004 John Stewart, 2012-11-22 On March 31 1943 the musical Oklahoma premiered and the modern era of the Broadway musical was born. Since that time the theatres of Broadway have staged hundreds of musicals, some more noteworthy than others but all in their own way a part of American theatre history. With more than 750 entries this comprehensive reference work provides information on every musical produced on Broadway since Oklahoma's 1943 debut. Each entry begins with a brief synopsis of the show followed by a three part history: first the pre-Broadway story of the show including out of town try outs and Broadway previews; next the Broadway run itself with dates, theatres, and cast and crew; including replacements, chorus and understudies, songs, gossip, and notes on reviews and awards; and finally post-Broadway information with a detailed list of later notable productions along with important reviews and awards. The Cast, 1902

American Expatriate Writing and the Paris Moment Donald Pizer, 1997-09-01 Montparnasse and its caf life, the shabby working class area of the place de la Contrescarpe and the Pantheon, the small restaurants and cafés along the Seine and the Right Bank, world of the well-to-do for American writers self-exiled to Paris during the 1920s and 1930s. The French capital represented what their homeland could not: a milieu that through the freedom of thought and action it permitted and the richness of life it offered nurtured the full expression of the creative imagination. How these expatriates interpreted and gave modernist shape to the myth of the Paris moment in their writing is the altogether fresh focus of Donald Pizer's study of seven of their major works. Pizer elucidates a striking difference between the genres of expatriate autobiography and fiction and arranges his discussion accordingly. He first examines Ernest Hemingway's A Moveable Feast, Gertrude Stein's The Autobiography of Alice B. Toklas and The Diary of Ana S. Nin (1931-1934), all of which depict the emergence and triumph of the creative imagination within the Paris context. He then turns to Hemingway's The Sun Also Rises, John Dos Passos' Nineteen Nineteen and F. Scott Fitzgerald's Tender Is the Night, which dramatize the tragic potential in seeking a richness and intensity of creative expression within the city's setting. Henry Miller's Tropic of Cancer, a relatively late example of American expatriate writing constitutes a synthesis of the two tendencies Pizer shows Through careful readings of the texts Pizer identifies both the common threads in the expatriates response to the Paris moment and the distinctive expression each work gives to their shared experience Most important he addresses the neglected question of how the portrayal of the Paris scene helps shape a specific work s themes and form He traces such experimental devices as fragmented or cubistic narrative forms the dramatic representation of consciousness and sexual explicitness and explores the powerful and evocative tropes of mobility and feeding As Pizer demonstrates Paris between the two world wars was for the American expatriates more than a geographical entity It was a state of mind an experience that engendered the formal expression of a personal aesthetic The engaging and significant interplay between artist place and innovative self reflexive forms composes Pizer maintains the most distinctive contribution of expatriate writing to the literary movement called high modernism Brodsky's Poetics and Aesthetics Valentina Polukhina,Lev Loseff,1990-06-21 Dogs in Athenian Sculpture and Vase Painting of the Archaic and Classical Periods Katia Margariti,2025-05-15 This book analyses the iconography of dogs in Athenian art highlighting their roles as companions hunters pets and status symbols It explores their presence in various aspects of ancient Greek life their association with gods and heroes and their depiction in funerary reliefs reflecting the deep human canine bond The Theatre ,1885 Vol for 1888 includes dramatic directory for Feb Dec vol for 1889 includes dramatic directory for Jan May Coincidence Harold Brighouse,1929 The Continental Method of Scene Painting Vladimir Polunin,1927 Paris , The Paris Scene Peter James Rawlins,1958 Actors Directory and Stage Manual ,1925 Harper's Monthly Magazine ,1907 Important American periodical dating back to 1850 The Sphere ,1919 The Musical Guide Rupert Hughes,1903 The musical guide, ed. by R.
