Charles Cox,2015-07-11 Excerpt from The Parish Registers of England This work a great improvement upon the straggling chapters of Burn s bigger book was much appreciated especially by the clergy but it has been long out of print and difficult to procure through second hand agencies Meanwhile I kept steadily before my mind the hope of producing a book which whilst based upon the labours of my predecessors Burn and Waters should strike out a wider line of its own and aim at a better arrangement and at a fuller explanation of unusual points At last after many interruptions literary and otherwise the idea has matured and these pages are put forth with a fair amount of hope that they may prove useful and helpful to those who desire to have a better understanding of parochial registers Another book on this subject was produced in 1908 of the highest value and yet in no sense clashing with this work or causing me to falter in my task which had then made considerable advance I allude to Mr Arthur Meredyth Burke s volume called A Key to the Ancient Parish Registers of England and Wales In the following year a supplement of addenda and corrigenda was also issued The object of this laborious work is to provide those who have reason to consult parish registers with an easy and reliable guide as to the period covered by each of them and also with information as to their having been printed if such has been the case About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the

Charles Cox,1974 Parish Registers in England, Their History and Contents Robert Edmond Chester Waters,2017-07-28 Excerpt from Parish Registers in England Their History and Contents With Suggestions for Securing Their Better Custody and Preservation The want has long been felt of a handy and in expensive manual of the law and practice of registra tion which could be consulted with confidence and read with amusement by those who have parish registers In their charge and take an intelligent interest in their history and contents The only book on the subject is that of the late Mr R S Burn who was employed by the Government in the preparation of the Civil Registration Bill of 1837 and was a member of both the Royal Commissions which were subsequently appointed for the purpose of collecting and authenti cating non parochial registers It would be ungracious to dwell on the defects of so diligent a labourer in a newly explored field of learning but Mr Burn was more successful in collecting facts than in marshalling and digesting his collections and his History of Parish Registers is disfigured by frequent inaccuracy of quota tion and by a want of power to grasp his subject which makes it difficult for his readers to form a clear connected view of the different stages through which the question of registration has passed About the PublisherForgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.comThis book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Key to the Ancient Parish Registers of England & Wales Arthur Meredyth Burke,2008-02 Many of the earliest books particularly those dating back to the 1900s and before are now extremely scarce and increasingly expensive We are republishing these classic works in affordable high quality modern

Registrum Ecclesiae Parochialis John Southerden Burn, 1862 The History of Parish Registers in England John Southerden Burn, 2015-07-12 Excerpt from The History of Parish Registers in England Also of the Registers of Scotland Ireland the East and West Indies the Dissenters and the Episcopal Chapels in and About London With Observations on Bishops Transcripts and the Provisions of the Act of the 52nd George III Cap 146 In 1812 when the last Bill for regulating these Records was passing through Parliament the subject received great attention out of the House since the passing of the Act however little has been said or done and the anxiety previously shown appears to have abated under the idea that the Act had provided for every thing that was essential to the good keeping and preservation of these Records It is to be regretted that the Act is defective in at least two material points The one is that it does not provide for sufficient particulars in the Entries in order to prove or lead to the proof of identity and descent The other that although there is a provision for a Transcript of every Register to be annually deposited in the Bishops Archives in order to guard against accidents and detect forgery or interpolation in the original Register yet there is no power given to compel such transmission The perusal of the following pages will show that these defects are not inconsiderable but are such as require immediate amendment in order that the Parish Registers of the Country may be made more useful in affording information of the greatest importance to individuals and in furnishing Government with the basis of calculations tending to promote the general good About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
