Participating In God:

Participating in God Paul S. Fiddes, 2000-01-01 Participating in God claims that a doctrine of the Trinity cannot be developed in isolation from pastoral experience. It is not sufficient to view the persons of the Trinity as offering a mere example for human relationships; actual participation in this triune communication shapes both our knowledge of God and the pastoral practices that flow from it. Paul S. Fiddes develops a radical understanding of the persons in God as nothing other than relations or as movements of divine relationship into which we are drawn. This important new book engages in conversation with recent thought about the Trinity in Catholic, Protestant, and Orthodox theology. But it does so always through theological reflection on pastoral concerns. Fiddes brings the doctrine of the Trinity into dialogue with key issues including the relation of the individual to community, the nature of power and authority, the effect of intercessory prayer, the problems of suffering, the power of forgiveness, the threat of death, the use of spiritual gifts, and the living of a sacramental life. Participating in God is essential reading for all those interested in Christian doctrine and pastoral care.

A Theology of the Christian Life Christopher R. J. Holmes, 2021-09-14 This book gets at the heart of the Christian life by considering some of the great truths of God's existence. Christopher Holmes, an expert in contemporary theology, engages with the church fathers along with Augustine and Aquinas to offer a rich, accessible account of the triune God and the divine perfections. Holmes shows how we share in the life of God through imitation and participation, and how the doctrines of the triune God and the divine attributes shape our understanding of the Christian life. Throughout, Holmes demonstrates the importance of theology for Christian faith and practice.

Participating in God Paul S. Fiddes, 2000 God's Beauty-in-Act Stephen M. Garrett, 2013-07-24 Jurgen Moltmann and others contend that Christian theology and the church face a dual crisis: one of relevance and the other of identity. Despite making this pronouncement nearly forty years ago, the church in the West continues to struggle with this crisis. Several proposals have been espoused, from the way of wisdom to the way of ecclesial praxis. Yet little attention is given in Protestant theological discourse to the role God's beauty plays in bringing theology and ethics together. By neglecting God's beauty for theological discourse, we risk diminishing Christian worship, witness, and wisdom. God's Beauty in Act addresses these issues in part by arguing that the redemptive, creative, suffering, and glorious resurrection of Christ are the nexus of God's being, beauty, and Christian living. God's beauty is understood as the fittingness of the incarnate Son's actions in the Spirit to the Father's will; it radiates God's glory and draws perceivers into the dramatic movements of God's triune life. These movements serve as the patterns that shape the imagination, enabling participants to perform their parts creatively and fittingly in God's drama of redemption. In doing so, human beings flourish as they jettison false identities and realities of their own making that are incommensurate with God's purpose found in Christ by the Spirit.

Participating in God Samuel M. Powell, 2003 In this exciting work, Samuel Powell offers a new, constructive and systematic vision of creation by interpreting it in terms of contemporary science and trinitarian theology. Powell's work unfolds in three stages building on the multiple ways the doctrine of creation actually functions for Christians He first analyzes its regulative dimension Even in all the multiplicity of historical Christianity he shows the doctrine commits Christians to a particular set of normative beliefs about the world and God's relation to it Second Powell builds on the doctrine's hermeneutical potential It allows Christians both to interpret the meaning of creation in terms of other prevalent philosophical religious or scientific ideas and also to interpret the world as disclosed by scientific theory in theological terms In the heart of his book Powell correlates creaturely characteristics with their participation in God through the trinitarian persons Finally in light of his findings Powell drives home the often ignored ethical dimension of the doctrine especially in relation to the environment our consumerist lifestyle and eschatology Powell's bold proposal harvests from two of the most fruitful fields of recent theology trinitarian theory and religion and science and crafts a creative new vision of how we and all creation participate in the life and work of the triune God

Participation in God Andrew Davison, 2019-08 Offers a substantial discussion of a central theme in Christian theology that everything comes from and depends upon God

Participation in God G. Thomas Luck, 2024-12-19 What does God have to do with you and your community There are many good resources for individual and community development but few that talk about where God enters the conversation This work develops a particular theology of participation in the life of God and describes how this theology of participation in God informs individual and congregational development The subject of congregational development is human beings and their relationships with God and each other This theological framework provides individual and congregational development an answer to the question What does individual and congregational development have to do with God Much of the reading and writing for this book were done during the COVID 19 pandemic which raised new questions about how Christian communities gather without being in person This in turn has prompted new questions and thoughts about the nature of worship ecclesiology and adaptive challenges questions that Luck addresses through a theology of participation in God particularly participation in God's glory

The Drama of Preaching Eric B. Watkins, 2017-02-16 Preaching is dramatic Through it we hear the voice of the living God as he speaks to us both through the reading and the preaching of the word of God But where do the hearers of sermons fit into the drama This book suggests ways in which the drama metaphor may help to address age old questions about the centrality of the gospel and the place of the hearer in preaching As God in Christ is the central character in the biblical drama of redemption he also calls hearers to understand their role in creatively yet faithfully living according to the biblical script Thus no sermon is complete until God's redemptive work is powerfully proclaimed and his people are instructed in how they too are participating in the Missio Dei In this work Hebrews 11 is employed as a means of showing how God not only reveals his redemptive work to his people but also through them As postmodernism sets the stage of contemporary preaching The Drama of Preaching interacts with some of the particular challenges preachers face in engaging postmodern listeners that they might not only be hearers but doers of the preached word Participating in God's Life Leonard Allen, Danny Gray Swick, 2001-02-15 In an age marked by loneliness estrangement and the vacuous spiritualities increasingly offered to fill the void this book offers much needed wisdom for recovering a biblical Spirituality rooted in the triune nature of God It offers not only a fully biblical view of God's relational nature but also an equally biblical view of humans as relational beings created in the image of God It will provide enormous benefit to anyone seeking to discern the contours of a contemporary biblical Spirituality Liturgy, Theurgy, and Active Participation Kjetil Kringlebotten, 2023-09-08 Providing a metaphysical grounding for liturgical participation this book argues that active participation in the liturgy must be understood principally as our participation in God's act particularly in the act of Christ and only secondarily as our ritual involvement Utilizing Neoplatonist philosophy Kjetil Kringlebotten proposes that this should be understood in terms of theurgy which is the human participation in divine action which finds its consummation in the incarnation of Christ Without the incarnation all acts will remain extrinsic and imposed but acts can become real and intrinsic precisely because the incarnation makes possible true union with the divine a metaphysical union in distinction without confusion because this union is not extrinsic Through union with Christ as the one common focus of the divine human relation we can have true union with God and may offer true worship In order to make sense of active participation then we need to understand theology in theurgic terms where theurgy is understood not as a mechanical coercion of God but as a participation in His act in creation and through Christ as the true theurgist the master theurgist Whose work transforms our act and the liturgy Introduction to Biblical Interpretation (Foundations for Spirit-Filled Christianity) Jacqueline Grey, Paul W. Lewis, 2024-09-24 This introduction to biblical interpretation expands the interpretive task to encompass both comprehension of the Bible's content and active participation in God's redemptive plan The authors help readers engage with the beauty of God's Word and read it holistically for their intellectual and spiritual growth They address the nature of interpretation emphasize the Holy Spirit's role in the production interpretation and application of the Bible as a communication of the triune God and explore the Bible's genres and historical contexts through the lens of God's redemptive story They also provide principles and accessible guidelines for biblical interpretation in global contexts including a simple outline for beginning students to follow as they start interpreting and applying Scripture Above all the authors emphasize the transformative nature of reading Scripture This series reflects the changing face of global Christianity Series volumes highlight themes of interest to Pentecostal Charismatic students however the books are respectful and inclusive of a variety of church traditions Series editors are Jerry Ireland Paul W Lewis and Frank D Macchia Engaging God's World Cornelius Plantinga, 2002-02-07 The Bible admonishes Christians to love God with the mind as well as with the heart Engaging God's World clearly links this scriptural mandate with the pursuit of academic life extolling the crucial role of Christian higher education in the intellectual and spiritual formation of believers Chiefly intended to serve as a primer for students beginning college careers but valuable to thoughtful Christians at every stage of life this volume spells out the central themes of the Christian faith from a Reformed perspective More important however the book shows how Christian higher education fits inside a view of the world and of human life that is formed by these ideas Learning Cornelius Plantinga writes is a spiritual calling properly done it attaches us to God Approaching the topic of education from a variety of angles Plantinga shows that Christ centered learning teaches people to correctly see the world as God s creation to see providence in history to handle secular knowledge critically to develop good judgment and ultimately to use faith filled learning in the service of God s kingdom

Dancing in the Dark, Revised Edition Graham Buxton,2016-11-08 Christians are often tempted to encapsulate God in their own little boxes as if God could be tied down to our finite way of thinking But we can neither domesticate nor fully understand God for theology has a lot to do with coming to terms with the mystery of God This revised edition of Dancing in the Dark shaped as in the first edition by the two overarching themes of God as Trinity and a theology of participation embraces the notion of mystery in presenting a compelling vision of seeing all things finally united within the inner life of God As we engage in Christian ministry we are summoned to participate as grace filled faith communities in the triune God s immeasurably loving and healing work in the world leading those who are in darkness into an awareness of the God who imparts life in all its glorious abundance that which is so and a journey into the mystery of that which is to come The liberating ministry of the gospel is both a declaration and an invitation an invitation to the dance

The Church of God, its principles and practice according to the Scriptures, ed. by A.H. Burton Church,1898

The Works of Orestes A. Brownson: Politics Orestes Augustus Brownson,1885 Participating in Christ Michael J. Gorman,2019-09-17 World renowned scholar Michael Gorman examines the important Pauline theme of participation in Christ and explores its contemporary significance for Christian life and ministry One of the themes Gorman explores is what he calls resurrectional cruciformity that participating in Christ is simultaneously dying and rising with him and that cross shaped living infused with the life of the resurrected Lord is life giving Throughout the book Gorman demonstrates the centrality of participating in Christ for Paul s theology and spirituality

Participating in God's Mission Craig Van Gelder,Dwight Zscheile,2018-01-11 Explores how the church has engaged and should engage the American context What might faithful and meaningful Christian witness look like within our changing contemporary American context After analyzing contemporary challenges and developing a missiological approach for the US church Craig Van Gelder and Dwight Zscheile reflect on the long complex and contested history of Christian mission in America Five distinct historical periods from the beginning of the colonial era to the dawn of the third millennium are reviewed and critiqued They then bring the story forward to the present day discussing current realities confronting the church discerning possibilities of where and how the Spirit of God might be at work today and imagining what participating in the triune God s mission may look like in an uncertain tomorrow

Engaging the God Who Sees You Susanne Whitlock,2022-01-04 A truly authentic relationship with God Really that s what we all want and it is the very thing God created us for This book will help you have simple applicable personal encounters with God so you grow from being a cherished son or daughter to His treasured friend and companion You need to hear from God Himself exactly how He sees you what your purposes are and how much He wants a deeply personal relationship with you Grow into the unique plan God has had for you from before time began Jesus made it available Holy Spirit ushers you to the Father and Jesus God has issued you an invitation Say yes and follow His lead Wherever you are in your walk with God He has more for you right now So take this faith empowering journey and discover how Jesus example of living continually filled and led by the Spirit is for you as you simply choose to live led by Him God has withheld nothing from you Through this book you will Break free from past lies and wounds as God gives you truth to dispel them Learn to hear from God in a variety of way He is always speaking Become well versed in experiencing God s presence and how to remain in it Discover first hand who God says you are and how He has equipped you for all things in Him Glean from biblical accounts of those who engaged God in intimate relationship and as a result changed their world Join in with powerful revivalists example who chose to live in the presence of God Realize how to live and remain under the protection of Jesus where you are untouchable to the enemy Gain an understanding of how to release the Kingdom power of God to the world around you There are freedoms to win and adventures await you So let s get started The Self-revelation of God Samuel Harris,1887 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it Amazon com Politics Orestes Augustus Brownson,1885
