Managing People And Organizations Modular Version:

Managing Organizations and People, Modular Version Paul F. Buller, Randall S. Schuler, 2012-07-25 Managing Organizations and People is a collection of nine case modules. Each module contains five cases on a particular topic in management such as leadership. There are 57 cases for courses in management, organizational behavior and human resource management. Each five case modular covers a key management topic such as strategy, organizational design, managing diversity. Instructors can select as many or as few case modules as they want, including other exercises and their own material to build a supplement tailored fit to their course. These cases were carefully selected for their relevance and student interest, covering a broad range of topics and scenarios by experienced management instructors Paul Buller and Randall Schuler. All cases have been class tested and case notes are available for all. Directory of Postgraduate Studies 2002 Hobsons Publishing, PLC, 2001 Module Eleven - A Revenue Management Organization Gary L Parker, 2024-08-10 The primary objective of revenue management (RM) organisations is to maximise the profitability of the company by applying knowledge about the market and the competition using RM systems and tools. Building a successful RM carrier organisation requires three key elements. First, the passenger carrier must select the appropriate RM systems and tools. Second, they must put the right people in the right places. Third, they must design and implement effective business processes. Success requires paying careful attention to both people and processes. In this module, we begin by considering the people involved in the RM organisation, their job descriptions, skill sets and the importance of good people management, training and team building. The second section focuses on developing robust and effective business processes and outlines the key steps that you need to follow in doing so. Section three introduces three different organisational structures that can be used within an RM organisation and considers some of the advantages and disadvantages associated with each approach. It also discusses how and why you might choose to change the organisational structure over time.
