Managing Rural Development With Small Farmer Participation:

Managing Rural Development with Small Farmer Participation Coralie Bryant, Louise G. White, 1984 Improving International Irrigation Management With Farmer Participation Norman Uphoff, 2019-05-20 Traditionally indigenous irrigation in many countries of Asia Africa and Latin America has been managed quite well by water users who design build operate and maintain often sophisticated but usually small scale systems More recently in connection with large scale development programs and government managed schemes the planned introduction of Factors affecting the formation of FWUCs in institution building for PIMD in Cambodia: Two case studies Perera, L. R., 2006-08-16 Cambodia adopted Participatory Irrigation Management and Development PIMD as a national policy quite recently in recognition of the need for community participation and ownership of irrigation schemes in order to improve the performance of irrigation systems to achieve operational sustainability and economic development Under this program the Royal Government of Cambodia is seeking to devolve responsibility for all aspects of scheme operations to Farmer Water User Communities FWUCs which constitute the focal institutional mechanism of PIMD Implementing PIMD in Cambodia under many existing unfavorable conditions including high levels of poverty low agricultural productivity and deteriorated irrigation systems with frequently poor design is a very difficult and challenging task This study carried out towards the end of 2004 in two irrigation schemes of contrasting socioeconomic and physical scenarios analyzes the factors that influence the formation of FWUCs under different physical socioeconomic legal and institutional conditions In this analysis it was found that the favorable socioeconomic conditions appropriateness of the strategies and the process followed and link with the local institutions were the key attributes for the formation of functional FWUCs in the implementation of PIMD Institutional Imperatives for South Asian Environmental NGOs T. R. Ramanathan, 1992 Ecological Management of Agricultural Weeds Matt Liebman, Charles L. Mohler, Charles P. Staver, 2001-07-19 Concerns over environmental and human health impacts of conventional weed management practices herbicide resistance in weeds and rising costs of crop production and protection have led agricultural producers and scientists in many countries to seek strategies that take greater advantage of ecological processes and thereby allow a reduction in herbicide use This book provides principles and practices for ecologically based weed management in a wide range of temperate and tropical farming systems After examining weed life histories and processes determining the assembly of weed communities the authors describe how tillage and cultivation practices manipulations of soil conditions competitive cultivars crop diversification grazing livestock arthropod and microbial biocontrol agents and other factors can be used to reduce weed germination growth competitive ability reproduction and dispersal Special attention is given to the evolutionary challenges that weeds pose and the roles that farmers can play in the development of new weed management strategies Contemporary Strategies for Managing Rural Development Projects Olu Ogunnika, 1993 Design Issues in Farmer-managed Irrigation Systems Robert Yoder, Juanita

Thurston,1990 Overview of the workshop papers related to design outcomes papers related to the design process case studies country papers Abstracts on Rural Development in the Tropics ,1988 Management Infrastructure for the Developing World Kenneth L. Murrell,Robert H. Duffield,1985 Rural Development Participation Review ,1979 Concepts and Practices in Agricultural Extension in Developing Countries ,2008-01-01 Managing Irrigation Together Clarence Maloney,K V Raju,1994-10-31 Explores ways in which even small farmers can organize to manage irrigation Covers issues such as methods of field distribution environmental aspects and measurement of water costs and charges Includes a comparative analysis of irrigation policies in India Nepal and Sri Lanka and examples of successful farmers irrigation organizations in India Of interest to students and practitioners of irrigation management rural development and civil engineering Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Public Intervention in Farmer-Managed Irrigation Systems , Reducing Poverty, Building Peace Coralie Bryant,Christina Kappaz,2005 Draws attention to the global nature of poverty and its link to conflict Looks at poverty as a universal problem focusing on all nations both rich and poor Multidisciplinary and wide ranging targeted for a broad audience including NGOs community and citizen based advocacy groups students in international development programs and practitioners Poverty and peace and the relationships between them are the central challenges for our times Arguing that reducing poverty is not only possible but can also build opportunities for peace Coralie Bryant and Christina Kappaz help form the policy debate on the role of poverty reduction in international society Oftentimes poverty is looked at only in specific countries or is focused on developing countries Reducing Poverty Building Peace looks at poverty from both sides of the spectrum domestic and global rich and poor countries The second half of the book focuses on what has been learned about effectiveness especially through participatory development and more commitment to implementation in order to gain results This book combines a discussion of theoretical concepts with attention to policies programs and projects and the ways they might be designed and implemented to reduce poverty Since there has been progress in reducing poverty the challenge now is to learn from this experience about what works and to build political will to achieve this possible goal Associations transnationales ,1989 Includes monthly supplements to International congress calendar Africanus ,1986 Annotated Bibliography on Development and Transfer of Agricultural Technology ,1985 Proceedings ,1987 Autonomous Development Raff Carmen,1996-02-05 At a time of widespread disillusion as to what development has in practice done to the lives of hundreds of millions of marginalised people over the past 40 years this book seeks to reclaim development as a project of people s own autonomous agency Born out of three decades of field experience and working with Third World students it revisits the primary question of what development ought really to be about Raff Carmen starts from the conviction that development is too important to be left to the developers He critically examines what has gone on under its name finding it wanting both as an epistemological category and a sound operational practice Instead he presents a counter view of development as an act of creation whereby people exercise their inalienable right to invent their own future as authors of an ongoing process of transforming and humanising the landscapes they inhabit New Communications Technologies in Agriculture: Communication systems ,1993
