

The background of the book cover is a high-angle aerial photograph of a landscape. It features a dense forest of green trees, with a prominent, light-colored winding path or river cutting through the center. The lighting suggests a bright day, with shadows from the trees creating a textured pattern on the ground.

Mastery of Nature Svetozar Y. Minkov,Bernhardt L. Trout,2018-02-02 In the early modern period thinkers began to suggest that philosophy abjure the ideal of dispassionate contemplation of the natural world in favor of a more practically minded project that aimed to make human beings masters and possessors of nature Humanity would seize control of its own fate and overthrow the rule by hostile natural or imaginary forces The gradual spread of liberal democratic government the Enlightenment and the rise of technological modernity are to a considerable extent the fruits of this early modern shift in intellectual concern and focus But these long term trends have also brought unintended consequences in their wake as the dynamic forces of social reason historical progress and the continued recalcitrance of the natural world have combined to disillusion humans of the possibility even the desirability of their mastery over nature The essays in Mastery of Nature constitute an extensive analysis of the fundamental aspects of the human grasp of nature What is the foundation and motive of the modern project in the first place What kind of a world did its early advocates hope to bring about Contributors not only examine the foundational theories espoused by early modern thinkers such as Machiavelli Bacon Descartes and Hobbes but also explore the criticisms and corrections that appeared in the works of Rousseau Kant Nietzsche and Heidegger Ranging from ancient Greek thought to contemporary quantum mechanics Mastery of Nature investigates to what extent nature can be conquered to further human ends and to what extent such mastery is compatible with human flourishing Contributors Robert C Bartlett Mark Blitz Daniel A Doneson Michael A Gillespie Ralph Lerner Paul Ludwig Harvey C Mansfield Arthur Melzer Svetozar Y Minkov Christopher Nadon Diana J Schaub Adam Schulman Devin Stauffer Bernhardt L Trout Lise van Boxel Richard Velkley Stuart D Warner Jerry Weinberger Man and His Conquest of Nature Marion Isabel Newbigin,1912

Reconsideration of Science and Technology I Liu Dachun,Wang Bolu,Ding Junqiang,Liu Yongmou,2022-09-30 This volume analyzes Karl Marx s understanding of science and technology and how it is associated with his focus on the perspective of history and human practice seeking to illuminate a renewed understanding of science and technology from a Marxist angle As the first volume of a three volume set that proposes to reconsider science and technology and explores how the philosophy of science and technology responds to an ever changing world the book delves into Marx s analysis of scientific and technological problems and phenomena across five chapters The authors explain the positioning of science and technology and the Marxist theoretical perspective of history and practice from which Marx s views on science and technology derive before an examination of three focal dimensions pertaining to science and technology productivity technological alienation and liberty Not always viewed as central to Marx s works discussions on science and technology are often underdeveloped but a reinterpretation of Marx s thoughts on the issues corroborates the efficacy of Marxism in terms of understanding today s world and especially the development of science and technology The volume will appeal to scholars and students interested in Marxist philosophy the philosophy of science and technology and topics related to scientific culture Visual Instruction in Nature Study Ernest L. Newbiggin,2015-08-06 Excerpt from Man and His Conquest of Nature To all those who have followed in detail the recent progress of geography it will be obvious that this little book is enormously indebted to those investigators who of late years have devoted themselves to studies in human geography and the allied subjects As it has been especially the French geographers who have done this my indebtedness to them and notably to Professors Brunhes de Martonne Vidal de la Blache Demangeon to name only a few for the raw material upon which the book is based is very great Detailed investigations upon the relations between groups of men and their surroundings such as several of the above have made are as yet somewhat uncommon in this country and in consequence this point of view is inadequately represented here and has scarcely filtered through to the ordinary school book But if geography is to be made really interesting and it will never be adequately taught until it is made interesting it must become clear that its essential problem is to discover why man thrives more at certain parts of the globe than at others Put even more bluntly the great question which geography asks is Why is it easier for men to make their living at some places than at others I have tried to show that the subject is less crudely utilitarian in practice than this statement may make it appear from the fact that everywhere man demands more than the mere satisfaction of his animal needs so that places where he has prospered are places which have satisfied more than these About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
