Migration And Development New Partnerships For Cooperation:

Implementing EU Mobility Partnerships Fanny Tittel-Mosser, 2020-06-08 This book provides a comprehensive assessment of the effectiveness of Mobility Partnerships and their consequences for third countries. Mobility partnerships between the EU and third countries are usually viewed as reflecting asymmetric power relations where development aid, trade relations and visa policies are made conditional upon the cooperation by third countries with an EU agenda of migration control. This book argues that three main factors condition the relevance of Mobility Partnerships: the state of relations between EU Member States and a third country and in particular the role of postcolonial ties, the power of negotiation of a third country which is linked to its geopolitical importance for the EU and its administrative capacity which is understood as the capacity of a state to define and implement policies and to legislate and enforce the law. The work combines a comparative legal analysis of the development of the legal and policy frameworks in the cases of Morocco and Cape Verde with an empirical study of the implementation of Mobility Partnerships projects. The analysis demonstrates that Mobility Partnerships, despite their non-binding nature, have legal and policy relevance for these third countries with regard to the regulation of migration, asylum, human trafficking and even labour law. As such, this book makes a contribution to the understanding of the interplay between the interests of EU Member State and third country actors in the implementation of the Mobility Partnerships. The book will be a key resource for academics and students focusing on Migration Law, EU Studies, Geopolitics and African Studies. The empirical approach will also appeal to policy makers, international organisation representatives and NGOs. International Social Science Journal, 2000 Migration World Magazine, 1986

International Migration Law Vincent Chetail, 2019-03-29 International Migration Law provides a detailed and comprehensive overview of the international legal framework applicable to the movement of persons across borders. The role of international law in this field is complex and often ambiguous; there is no single source for the international law governing migration. The current framework is scattered throughout a wide array of rules belonging to numerous fields of international law, including refugee law, human rights law, humanitarian law, labour law, trade law, maritime law, criminal law and consular law. This textbook therefore cuts through this complexity by clearly demonstrating what the current international law is and assessing how it operates. The book offers a unique and comprehensive mapping of this growing field of international law. It brings together and critically analyses the disparate conventional, customary and soft law on a broad variety of issues such as irregular migration, human trafficking, refugee protection, labour migration, non-discrimination, regional free movement schemes and global migration governance. It also offers a particular focus on important groups of migrants, namely migrant workers, refugees and smuggled migrants. It maps the current status of the law governing their movement, providing a thorough critical analysis of the various stands of international law which apply to them, suggesting how the law may continue to develop in the future. This book provides the perfect introduction to all aspects of migration and international law.

Africa and the European Union J. Mangala, 2015-12-11 The adoption of the Joint Africa EU Strategy JAES in 2007 was a watershed moment in Africa EU relations one that sought to reinvent a historical relationship to meet the challenges posed by complex interdependencies expanding globalization and growing competition all framed by the gradual dislocation of the West as the epicenter of world politics Five years into its implementation this book offers a thorough and first comprehensive investigation of the JAES the most advanced form of interregionalism seen to date Journal of Philippine Development, 1996

The ACP Group and the EU Development Partnership Annita Montoute, Kudrat Virk, 2017-01-01 This book constitutes a systematic and critical assessment of the nature evolution and prospects of the development partnership between the 79 member African Caribbean and Pacific ACP group of states and the 28 member European Union EU A core theme that runs through the work is that the ACP's partnership with the EU remains an important framework for addressing development challenges in the African Caribbean and Pacific regions but needs to adapt to changes in the global political economy as well as internal developments in both the ACP and the EU to sustain its relevance and effectiveness This is crucial for the ACP group in particular given its origins in and core focus on development cooperation with Europe The authors in this volume examine the history of the ACP EU partnership since 1975 the EU s relationship with the African Caribbean and Pacific regions individually ACP experiences with economic partnership agreements with the EU and new political issues in particular security migration and diasporas Shedding light on the future prospects of this relationship this book will be of interest to both scholars and policymakers working on the ACP EU relationship and related development issues including trade aid security and migration Refugee Survey Quarterly ,1998

Barriers to Cross-border Provision of Services Within the APEC Marina Fe B. Durano,1997 Annual Report ... on the EC Development Policy and the Implementation of the External Assistance ,2011 International Labour Documentation International Labour Office. Central Library and Documentation Branch,International Labour Office. Central Library and Documentation Bureau,1995 Living on the Edges Muhadjir Darwin,Anna Marie Wattie,Susi Eja Yuarsi,2003 Migration Initiatives ,2006 African migrations ,2004 European Access ,1995 Migration, Development and Poverty Reduction ,2007 The report presents a review of the most important subjects on current migration dynamics in Africa and provides valuable policy recommendations It summarizes the development of migration in the continent and its implications at different stages with the aim to identify future challenges It concludes by outlining possible actions necessary to increase the participation of migrants in the development of Africa as well as capacity building for individual countries When Deportation Fails Diego Ginés Martín,2025-09-09 Statistics show that deportation rates in the European Union remain strikingly low and are decreasing However successfully resisting deportation does not guarantee a residence permit often leaving migrants in legal limbo unable to return home yet unable to gain legal residence The existence of non removable migrants challenges long established migration categories and highlights the ambiguities of a framework that fails to meet its deportation aims while clinging to migration control impulses When Deportation Fails examines this legal category on the margins of the law exploring its normative and empirical foundations It analyzes the processes and legal frameworks that create non removability in the EU explaining why despite the normalization legalization and legitimization of deportation EU Member States struggle to deport as much as they aim to Furthermore the book reveals the legal implications of non removability and proposes solutions It argues that EU law stratifies the rights of non removable migrants into distinct sub categories and explores regularization as a desirable policy to end protracted irregularity and non removability Covering diverse issues in migration studies asylum and citizenship law and migration policy theory this comprehensive study will appeal to academic scholars and those working on migration issues in EU organizations and the non governmental sector
