Dobbs, 2010-03-25 This book traces the various influences on the development of Harry S. Guntrip's thought including his personal history of family relationships, memberships in various religious organizations, and the weight of his academic professional mentors both theological and psychoanalytic. Ronald Fairbairn and Donald Winnicott. Guntrip, both a minister and lay therapist, is shown as a fascinating example of the adversarial tension between psychology and theology, commonly known as the battle between science and religion.      The End of the Experiment Stanley Rothman, 2017-09-08 The End of the Experiment ties together Stanley Rothman's theory of post-industrialism and his four decades of research on American politics and society. Rothman discusses the rise and fall of the New Left, the sixties impact on America's cultural elites, and the emergence of new post-industrial humanistic values. The first part of this book explains how cultural shifts in post-industrial society increased the influence of intellectuals and redefined America's core values. The second part examines how the shift in American social and cultural values led to a crisis of confidence in the American experiment. And in a final section, Rothman's contemporaries provide insight into his work, reflecting on his continued influence and his devotion to traditional liberalism. Rothman presents a quantitative study of personality differences between traditional American elites and new cultural elites. Rothman argues that the experiment of America as a new nation rooted in democracy, morality, and civic virtue is being destroyed by a disaffected intellectual class opposed to traditional values.      Major Neuroses & Behavior Diso (Classical Psychoanalysis and Its Applications)

Melitta Sperling, 1977-07-07 This study of childhood neuroses focuses on the role of the early mother-child relationship and its effect on the development of the ego, super-ego, object relations, and aggression. The pathological conditions discussed are arranged in accordance with the developmental stages.      The Developmental Approach to Childhood Psychopathology (Classical Psychoanalysis and Its Applications) Humberto Nagera, 1981

bipersonal field The distinction between transference and non transference reactions within the patient and its crucial technical implications The concept of interactional syndromes and resistances These are symptoms and defenses in the patient to which the therapist has significantly contributed They represent the pathology of the bipersonal field and can only be modified through rectification of the therapist s contributions and interpretation of their unconscious meanings for the patient The utilization of dreams in psychotherapy including the function of dreams as a means of communicating both unconscious fantasies and unconscious perceptions A special group of dreams ins identified as designed unconsciously to cure the pathology of the bipersonal field The patient s introjective identification of the therapist s pathological projective identifications which are generated by errors in intervening and mismanagements of the frame Based on his introjections the patient unconsciously attempts to cure the sick therapist within himself and thereby both the therapist and himself In this connection Dr Langs describes the patients and other unconscious therapeutic endeavors on his behalf In all this is a landmark book that opens many new avenues for understanding the therapeutic interaction and for redefining the basic techniques needed for the insightful resolution of the patient s psychopathology Dr Langs s work is founded on a distinctive psychoanalytic methodology and on repeated use of the validating process He works predictively and adheres closely to the material from the patient Never before has a psychoanalyst so exquisitely demonstrated the patient s unconscious perceptiveness and astonishing creativity Here is an opportunity to become involved in a clinical study that will prove a most memorable learning experience Publisher
