Parasite Insect Interactions Reciprocal Manipulation:

Parasite - Insect Interactions L. H. Chappell, British Society for Parasitology. Symposium on Parasite - insect interactions, 1998    Parasite-Insect Interactions Hilary Hurd, Richard Lane, L. H. Chappell, 1998-11-19 This volume of Parasitology examines specifically parasite insect Interaction    Exploring Parasite Genomes David Rollinson, Jennifer Blackwell, Leslie H. Chappell, Jenefer M. Blackwell, 1999-12-09 Summarises the current state of various parasite genome projects and the bioinformatics of parasite genome analysis    Veterinary Parasitology Richard J. Martin, Henk D. F. H. Schallig, L. H. Chappell, 2000-07-06 Symposium volume covering recent developments in veterinary parasitology    Host Manipulation by Parasites David P. Hughes, Jacques Brodeur, Frédéric Thomas, 2012-06-07 Parasites that manipulate the behaviour of their hosts represent striking examples of adaptation by natural selection This text provides an authoritative review of host manipulation by parasites that assesses developments in the field and lays out a framework for future research

Phenotypic Plasticity of Insects Douglas Whitman, T. N. Ananthakrishnan, 2009 This book explores the profound importance of phenotypic plasticity as a central organizing theme for understanding biology Chapters take a broad integrative approach to explain how physical and biological environmental stimuli temperature photoperiod nutrition population density predator presence etc influence insect biochemical physiological learning and developmental processes altering phenotype which then influences performance ecology life history survival fitness and subsequent evolution Topics include endocrinology development body size allometry polyphenism reproduction reproductive and life history tradeoffs alternative mating and life history strategies density dependent prophylaxis physiological adaptation acclimation homeostasis heat shock proteins learning adaptive anti predator behavior and evolution of phenotypic plasticity    Review of Medical and Veterinary Entomology, 1999    Cumulated Index Medicus, 1998    The Zoological Record, 1870    Gene Manipulation in Plant Improvement J. Perry Gustafson, 1985-01-31 The results obtained to date involving the use of in methods to facilitate wide hybridization in plants are voluminous and impressive The techniques of embryo culture ovule culture and in pollination and fertilization represent an extension of the normal sexual hybridization process Successes recorded in obtaining hybrids stem largely from circumventing prezygotic or postzygotic hybridization barriers Numerous recent successful hybridizations were possible because of the development of improved tissue and cell culture systems for crop plants and attention given to genotypes used in hybridization attempts Interspecific and intergeneric hybridization utilizing the process of protoplast fusion will bypass the limits set by all sexual methods In addition to combining complete genomes from two different species through protoplast fusion this system affords unique opportunities for creating novel cytoplasmic combinations transfer of individual chromosomes transfer of cytoplasmic organelles manipulation of male sterility and for single gene transfer Some caution must be noted with regard to the extent of hybridization possible between distantly related species Although practically no limit exists to the physical fusion of protoplasts from widely divergent species the restrictions imposed by somatic incompatibility have not been adequately addressed Regeneration of plants from the protoplast or single heterokaryon level is still a major hurdle for many important crop species before somatic cell fusion can be exploited to produce interspecific and intergeneric hybrids Identification and selection of hybrids is also a limitation to the efficient application of cell fusion methods
