Parents as Partners in Education Eugenia Hepworth Berger,Mari Riojas-Cortez,2012 Parents as Partners in Education Eighth Edition is uniquely the most comprehensive book on the market covering the history of parenting and parent school collaboration current issues and population trends affecting American schools and communities diverse family structures and techniques for establishing a connection with parents and encouraging involvement with their child s learning Based on the notion of funds of knowledge the knowledge that children acquire from their families this best selling textbook helps the reader differentiate between culture and diversity as they relate to culturally and linguistically diverse families Rather than following a tourist approach to culture this new edition focuses on culturally relevant pedagogy to work with children and their families particularly those who are English language learners and immigrant children A special focus on culturally and linguistically diverse children with special needs is a remarkable aspect of the book Parents and Professionals in Early Childhood Settings Glenda Mac Naughton,Patrick Hughes,2011-01-16 Parents and Professionals in Early Childhood Settings addresses the complex and sometimes controversial issues that emerge from the care and education of young children Staff and parents in early childhood settings can find ample advice about how to promote good communication but much of that advice has no grounding in their daily lives. Instead, it prescribes an established set menu of communication tools such as newsletters, notebooks, and message boards that rarely respond to what staff and families say about relationships between them. Drawing on the authors' research with hundreds of parents, staff, and students, the book explores relationships between staff and families through a series of issue stories. Each story features the voices and perspectives of real staff and families and captures their various understandings, desires, and feelings about a complex, difficult, and/or controversial issue. The authors support each issue story with snippets from relevant international research. Fairness Alerts that highlight unfair thinking habits and show how to challenge them, and some points to ponder and points to discuss that encourage readers to extend their thinking about the issues in the story. Parents and Professionals in Early Childhood Settings is written for the diverse people in the international field of early childhood education and care. They include staff, students, academics, trainers, curriculum advisors, policy officers, and managers together with the parents and other carers of young children.

Parent Involvement in Early Childhood Education Alice S. Honig, 1979 Family-School Partnerships During the Early School Years Karen L. Bierman, Susan M. Sheridan, 2021-11-25

This book presents research-based family school intervention programs that target the specific developmental period of preschool through the early elementary years, focusing on promoting positive child transitions into school. It explores critical intervention issues, including the need to understand mechanisms of efficacy, issues with real-world implementation, and methods for scaling family school interventions. The volume references developmental research to highlight the importance of family school partnerships at this critical transition period. Several chapters briefly describe research on proven intervention models that are effective in promoting family school partnerships as children enter kindergarten and foster positive school outcomes. Each chapter concludes with a review of the most critical next steps in family school intervention research within the context of the early school years. At the end of the book, several commentary chapters address overall implications for future research and methods for advancing the field, including perspectives on research-informed family school practices and policies. Not only does the volume highlight interventions that work effectively to engage families with schools, it focuses on identifying critical components and processes that may underlie effective intervention outcomes and offers agendas for future research and intervention diffusion efforts. Key topics of coverage include: Presenting the logic model of the intervention program; Exploring questions concerning critical elements of family school partnerships that may account for children's positive outcomes; Discussing the challenges and strategies for scalability and broad diffusion. Family School Partnerships During the Early School Years is a valuable resource for researchers, professionals, and graduate students in child and school psychology, educational policy and politics, family studies, developmental psychology, sociology of education, sociology, and anthropology.
