Parents As Educators Training Parents To Teach Their Children:

Parents as Educators Keith J. Topping, 1986 Parents as Educators Keith J. Topping, 2025-08-05 Modern practice in the 1980s was to involve parents increasingly in the education of their children and was supported by legislation Particularly when children had special needs parents required structured training and support to ensure they affectively sustained their vital role as educators at home Many large scale programmes to provide this had been developed throughout the world at the time for example Home Start Portage Home Visiting Projects and Paired Reading Projects However not all of these had been thoroughly evaluated and the existing literature was scattered and difficult to access Some projects demonstrated spectacular results and high cost effectiveness while others proved more disappointing Originally published in 1986 this book critically analyses over 600 international English language research reports on the effectiveness of parent training programmes In addition a detailed guide to the practicalities of planning projects is provided together with a comprehensive directory of useful resource materials After an introductory overview the evidence on the effects on child progress of parental involvement in school activities is reviewed as is research on the impact of schemes of regular structured communication between home and school Programmes designed to train parents to accelerate the development of their children at home are considered in the subsequent chapters starting with ordinary children Much of the book reviews projects targeted on children with some sort of special educational need from children whose special needs stem from a widespread difficulty such as poverty or second language learning systematically through to children whose needs stem from rarer and more severe issues Each chapter has its own summary for ease of reader use while an overall summary chapter points out best buys and directions for future developments This volume will be of major interest to teachers psychologists social workers community health personnel community educationalists researchers many others working with parents and children and to some parents themselves This book is a re issue originally published in 1986 The language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re publication Homeschooling

Samuel L. Blumenfeld, 1997 More and more parents today are disillusioned with public education Instead of merely tolerating a faulty system expanding numbers of parents are turning to alternative education for their children Homeschooling describes what homeschooling is all about helps parents decide whether or not this choice fits their family lifestyle covers virtually every aspect of homeschooling and more Handbook on Parent Education Marvin J. Fine, 2014-05-10

Handbook on Parent Education presents a contemporary picture of the state of the parent education movement It tackles a number of critical issues such as the programs that are available or when parent education should begin Different models of parent education are described along with parenting programs for youth The application of parenting programs for specific groups including foster parents parents of preschoolers abusive parents and parents of handicapped children is also discussed Comprised of 14 chapters this book begins with an overview of the parent education movement as well as several prototype programs and some ethical issues The distinction between education and therapy is explained and parent education with special interest groups is described In addition problems of research and evaluation and a projection for the future are presented Subsequent chapters focus on the state of the nuclear family in American society during the 1970s Rudolf Dreikurs impact on childrearing practices and his contribution to individual psychology together with the social context of child behavior Haim Ginott s approach to parent education and the effects of parent effectiveness training on families Transactional analysis approaches to parent education and parent education as a strategy for the prevention of child abuse are also examined This monograph will appeal to educators parents sociologists and educational psychologists

The Effect of Family Literacy Interventions on Children's Acquisition of Reading Monique Sénéchal,2006 Teachers and Parents Dorothy Rich,1987 This monograph for teachers outlines reasons for working with parents It presents a sampling of practical strategies that teachers can use to foster parent competence and responsibility in the education of their children It also contains answers to some of teachers questions about getting parents to visit the school and encouraging them to become involved in their children s education An introduction in Chapter 1 is followed by a discussion of new roles and new facts about families and teachers in Chapter 2 Chapter 3 concerns what parents and teachers want Chapter 4 discusses educational responsibility in the home Chapter 5 describes what teachers can do to increase parent involvement Chapter 6 provides tips concerning the parent teacher conference Chapter 7 deals with special experiences and needs of single parents that teachers may want to consider Chapter 8 articulates four basic rules for parent involvement programs Appendices provide discussions of parent involvement strategies the MegaSkills home curriculum ways to meet family needs and characteristics of effective families Over 40 references as well as 7 filmstrips are cited RH

Resources in Education,1994 A Handbook for Involving Parents in Head Start ,1980 New Ways to Engage Parents Patricia Edwards,Catherine Compton-Lilly,2016-05-06 Just as populations change ideas about how to encourage and work with parents also need to evolve This practical resource by bestselling author Patricia Edwards provides school leaders and classroom teachers with new and creative ways in which to welcome encourage and involve parents Enacting these types of practices requires a special kind of commitment from teachers and school leaders which often coincides with a particular kind of mindset about families and one s responsibility to engage them Educators often develop this mindset as they depend their understanding of families literacy language culture race class and themselves Edwards pulls these understandings together and presents them in a straightforward concise and easy to use guide that is perfect for professional learning communities and teacher preparation courses New Ways to Engage Parents is essential reading for all educators who care deeply about engaging a wide range of parents in today s schools The book features a stark look at the changing community demographics and what that means for teachers and administrators strategies for communicating with parents examples of how to bring parents together for meaningful activities the importance of understanding parental constraints and the need to meet them halfway and approaches for overcoming school ghosts as well as negative histories and perceptions in the community

Partnering with Parents to Ask the Right Questions Luz Santana, Dan Rothstein, Agnes Bain, 2016-09-19 How can we make it easier for schools and families to work together on behalf of all students It all begins by tapping into the different strengths educators and parents and caregivers can contribute to building a strong partnership Partnering with Parents to Ask the Right Questions by Luz Santana Dan Rothstein and Agnes Bain of the Right Question Institute presents a deceptively simple strategy for how educators can build effective partnerships with parents especially those who typically have not been actively involved in their children s schooling It distills complex important ideas on effective civic participation into an easy to learn process that teaches parents two fundamental skills they can use to support the education of their children monitor their progress and advocate for them asking better questions and participating effectively in key decisions Based on more than two decades of work and research in a wide range of low and moderate income communities this book empowers overburdened and under resourced educators and parents to work together and achieve their common goal of successful students This indispensable guide includes case studies spanning K 12 classrooms and it explores ways to assist struggling students collaborate on IEPs and communicate with families of English language learners The accessible and easy to use format field tested advice and vivid examples from schools that put the advice into practice make this a must have for everyone from the classroom to the central office

Think Like a Teacher, ACT Like a Parent James C. Harden, 2014-02

From Me to You Imagine Taking your most precious gift to a stranger s house and leaving it there for 8 hours Do you expect the stranger to return the gift in better condition than you left it What about your car If you dropped your car off to a mechanic how long would you wait before you called to check on it What if you do not understand what the mechanic is saying What if you are not satisfied with the work What if the mechanic failed to improve the car s performance What would you do Now instead of a mechanic and your car consider a SCHOOL and your CHILD Do you pay closer attention to the handling of your car than to the handling of your child Think about it Special note for the reader Dear Reader Thank you for supporting this cause My wish is that your investment in this book is more than just a few bucks and a quick read I know the power of education and am hoping you use this book and other resources found at www.weteachparents.com to assist you in increasing life opportunities for your children We Teach Parents is more than just the name of this learning community it is truly our mission We believe that equipping parents with information concerning schools and education will enhance the parent teacher relationship thus enhancing the school experience for all children This undertaking is in need of many more believers supporters and advocates For the sake of our children will you join us Please visit www.weteachparents.com and spread the word to those you love Educationally yours Dr James Harden III Parents' Magazine & Better Homemaking,1928 America's 1 family magazine Child Welfare ,1928 Christian Advocate and Journal and Zion's Herald ,1900 A Cyclopedia of Education Paul Monroe,1913 *Annual Report of the State Board of Education, Together with the ...
