Partnering Against Terrorism National Research Council, Policy and Global Affairs, Board on Science Technology and Economic Policy, Committee on Government-Industry Partnerships for the Development of New Technologies, 2005-07-08 Terrorism and the measures needed to prevent terrorist attacks pose a central policy challenge for the U S To meet this unprecedented challenge the U S has great technological assets What is needed are mechanisms to help the government draw on these strengths in a timely and effective fashion To do so the government needs to reach out to university researchers national laboratories small high tech businesses and leading corporations One of the most effective ways to do this is through public private partnerships To link the lessons of the National Academies study on Government Industry Partnerships to this critical national interest the Academy organized a conference to bring the lessons of its analysis to bear on the war on terror By encouraging policy attention to examples of effective public private partnerships in particular the need for clear goals and regular assessments this report contributes to a better understanding of the potential partnerships to bring new security enhancing technologies and equipment to the market in a cost effective and timely manner An Assessment of the SBIR Program at the Department of Defense National Research Council, Policy and Global Affairs, Committee for Capitalizing on Science, Technology, and Innovation: An Assessment of the Small Business Innovation Research Program, 2009-09-28 The SBIR program allocates 2.5 percent of 11 federal agencies extramural R D budgets to fund R D projects by small businesses providing approximately 2 billion annually in competitive awards At the request of Congress the National Academies conducted a comprehensive study of how the SBIR program has stimulated technological innovation and used small businesses to meet federal research and development needs Drawing substantially on new data collection this book examines the SBIR program at the Department of Defense and makes recommendations for improvements Separate reports will assess the SBIR program at NSF NIH DOE and NASA respectively along with a comprehensive report on the entire program An Assessment of the SBIR Program National Research Council, Policy and Global Affairs, Committee for Capitalizing on Science, Technology, and Innovation: An Assessment of the Small Business Innovation Research Program, 2009-01-29 The SBIR program allocates 2.5 percent of 11 federal agencies extramural R D budgets to fund R D projects by small businesses providing approximately 2 billion annually in competitive awards At the request of Congress the National Academies conducted a comprehensive study of how the SBIR program has stimulated technological innovation and used small businesses to meet federal research and development needs Drawing substantially on new data collection this report provides a comprehensive overview of the SBIR program at the five agencies representing 96 percent of program expenditure DOD NIH NSF DOE and NASA and makes recommendations on improvements to the program Separate books on each agency will also be issued An Assessment of the SBIR Program at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration National Research Council, Policy and Global Affairs, Committee for Capitalizing on

Science, Technology, and Innovation: An Assessment of the Small Business Innovation Research Program, 2009-03-27 The Small Business Innovation Research SBIR program is one of the largest examples of U S public private partnerships Founded in 1982 SBIR was designed to encourage small business to develop new processes and products and to provide quality research in support of the many missions of the U S government including health energy the environment and national defense In response to a request from the U S Congress the National Research Council assessed SBIR as administered by the five federal agencies that together make up 96 percent of program expenditures This book one of six in the series reports on the SBIR program at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and finds that the program is making significant progress in achieving the Congressional goals for the program Keeping in mind NASA s unique mission and the recent significant changes to the program the committee found the SBIR program to be sound in concept and effective in practice at NASA The book recommends programmatic changes that should make the SBIR program even more effective in achieving its legislative goals An Assessment of the SBIR Program at the National Institutes of Health National Research Council, Policy and Global Affairs, Committee for Capitalizing on Science, Technology, and Innovation: An Assessment of the Small Business Innovation Research Program, 2009-04-02 The SBIR program allocates 2.5 percent of 11 federal agencies extramural R D budgets to fund R D projects by small businesses providing approximately 2 billion annually in competitive awards At the request of Congress the National Academies conducted a comprehensive study of how the SBIR program has stimulated technological innovation and used small businesses to meet federal research and development needs Drawing substantially on new data collection this book examines the SBIR program at the National Institutes of Health and makes recommendations for improvements Separate reports will assess the SBIR program at DOD NSF DOE and NASA respectively along with a comprehensive report on the entire program Hidden Costs of Energy National Research Council, Policy and Global Affairs, Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Board on Energy and Environmental Systems, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, Committee on Health, Environmental, and Other External Costs and Benefits of Energy Production and Consumption, 2010-06-26 Despite the many benefits of energy most of which are reflected in energy market prices the production distribution and use of energy causes negative effects Many of these negative effects are not reflected in energy market prices When market failures like this occur there may be a case for government interventions in the form of regulations taxes fees tradable permits or other instruments that will motivate recognition of these external or hidden costs The Hidden Costs of Energy defines and evaluates key external costs and benefits that are associated with the production distribution and use of energy but are not reflected in market prices The damage estimates presented are substantial and reflect damages from air pollution associated with electricity generation motor vehicle transportation and heat generation The book also considers other effects not quantified in dollar amounts such as damages from climate change effects of some air pollutants such as mercury and risks to national security While not a comprehensive guide to policy this analysis indicates that major initiatives to further reduce other emissions improve energy efficiency or shift to a cleaner electricity generating mix could substantially reduce the damages of external effects A first step in minimizing the adverse consequences of new energy technologies is to better understand these external effects and damages The Hidden Costs of Energy will therefore be a vital informational tool for government policy makers scientists and economists in even the earliest stages of research and development on energy technologies

Venture Funding and the NIH SBIR Program National Research Council,Policy and Global Affairs,Committee for Capitalizing on Science, Technology, and Innovation: An Assessment of the Small Business Innovation Research Program,2009-07-22 The Small Business Administration issued a policy directive in 2002 the effect of which has been to exclude innovative small firms in which venture capital firms have a controlling interest from the SBIR program This book seeks to illuminate the consequences of the SBA ruling excluding majority owned venture capital firms from participation in SBIR projects This book is part of the National Research Council s study to evaluate the SBIR program s quality of research and value to the missions of five government agencies The other books in the series include An Assessment of the SBIR Program 2008 An Assessment of the SBIR Program at the National Science Foundation 2007 An Assessment of the Small Business Innovation Research Program at the National Institutes of Health 2009 An Assessment of Small Business Innovation Research Program at the Department of Energy 2008 An Assessment of the Small Business Innovation Research Program at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration 2009 An Assessment of the Small Business Innovation Research Program at the Department of Defense 2009

Revisiting the Department of Defense SBIR Fast Track Initiative National Research Council,Policy and Global Affairs,Committee for Capitalizing on Science, Technology, and Innovation: An Assessment of the Small Business Innovation Research Program,2009-09-25 In October 1995 the Department of Defense launched a Fast Track initiative to attract new firms and encourage commercialization of Small Business Innovation Research SBIR funded technologies throughout the department The goal of the Fast Track initiative is to help close the funding gap that can occur between Phase I and II of the SBIR program The Fast Track initiative seeks to address the gap by providing expedited review and essentially continuous funding from Phase I to Phase II as long as applying firms can demonstrate that they have obtained third party financing for their technology Another program initiative Phase II Enhancement was launched in 1999 to concentrate SBIR funds on those R D projects most likely to result in viable new products that the Department of Defense and others will buy The current volume evaluates the two SBIR Program initiatives Fast Track and Phase II Enhancement and finds that both programs are effective Ninety percent of Fast Track and 95 percent of Phase II Enhancement reported satisfaction with their decision This book identifies the successes and remaining shortcomings of the programs providing recommendations to address these issues
