Saunders, 2008-04-15 Romance is a varied and fluid literary genre notoriously difficult to define This groundbreaking Companion surveys the many permutations of romance throughout the ages Considers the literary and historical development of the romance genre from its classical origins to the present day Incorporates discussion of the changing readership of romance and of romance's special relation to women readers Comprises 30 essays written by leading authorities on different periods and sub genres Challenges the idea that the appeal of romance is exclusively escapist Draws on a wide range of specific and influential literary examples Childhood in Edwardian Fiction A. Gavin, A.

Humphries, 2008-12-17 The first book length look at childhood in Edwardian fiction this book challenges assumptions that the Edwardian period was simply a continuation of the Victorian or the start of the Modern Exploring both classics and popular fiction the authors provide a compelling picture of the Edwardian fictional cult of childhood Figures of the Imagination

Roger Hansford, 2017-03-16 This new study of the intersection of romance novels with vocal music records a society on the cusp of modernisation with a printing industry emerging to serve people's growing appetites for entertainment amidst their changing views of religion and the occult No mere diversion fiction was integral to musical culture and together both art forms reveal key intellectual currents that circulated in the early nineteenth century British home and were shared by many consumers Roger Hansford explores relationships between music produced in the early 1800s for domestic consumption and the fictional genre of romance offering a new view of romanticism in British print culture He surveys romance novels by Ann

Radcliffe Matthew Lewis Sir Walter Scott James Hogg Edward Bulwer and Charles Kingsley in the period 1790-1850 interrogating the ways that music served to create mood and atmosphere enlivened social scenes and contributed to plot developments. He explores the connections between musical scenes in romance fiction and the domestic song literature treating both types of source and their intersection as examples of material culture. Hansford's intersectional reading revolves around a series of imaginative figures including the minstrel, fairies, mermaids, ghosts and witches and Christians engaged both in virtue and vice, the identities of which remained consistent as influence passed between the art forms. While romance authors quoted song lyrics and included musical descriptions and characters in their novels, recorded and modelled the performance of songs by the middle and upper classes, influencing the work of composers and the actions of performers who read romance fiction.

Comic Books and Comic Strips in the United States through 2005 John Lent, 2006-04-30 This final work in John Lent's series of bibliographies on comic art gathers together an astounding array of citations on American comic books and comic strips. Included in this volume are citations regarding anthologies and reprints, criticism and reviews, exhibitions, festivals and awards, scholarship and theory, and the business, artistic, cultural, legal, technical and technological aspects of American comics. Author John Lent has used all manner of methods to gather the citations, searching library and online databases, contacting scholars and other professionals attending conferences and festivals, and scanning hundreds of periodicals. He has gone to great length to categorize the citations in an easy to use scholarly fashion and in the process has helped to establish the field of comic art as an important part of social science and humanities research. The ten volumes in this series, covering all regions of the world, constitute the largest printed bibliography of comic art in the world and serve as the beacon guiding the burgeoning fields of animation, comics and cartooning. They are the definitive works on comic art research and are exhaustive in their inclusiveness, covering all types of publications, academic, trade, popular, fan, etc. from all over the world. Also included in these books are citations to systematically researched academic exercises as well as more ephemeral sources such as fanzines, press articles and fugitive materials, conference papers, unpublished documents, etc. attesting to Lent's belief that all pieces of information are vital in a new field of study such as comic art.
