Making Literature Now Amy Hungerford,2016-08-03

How does new writing emerge and find readers today Why does one writer s work become famous while another s remains invisible Making Literature Now tells the stories of the creators editors readers and critics who make their living by making literature itself come alive The book shows how various conditions including gender education business dynamics social networks money and the forces of literary tradition affect the things we can choose or refuse to read Amy Hungerford focuses her discussion on literary bestsellers as well as little known traditional and digital literature from smaller presses such as McSweeney s She deftly matches the particular human stories of the makers with the impersonal structures through which literary reputation is made Ranging from fine grained ethnography to polemical argument this book transforms our sense of how and why new literature appears and disappears in contemporary American culture

The Comparative Perspective on Literature Clayton Koelb,2019-06-30

Few would deny that comparative literature is rapidly moving from the periphery toward the center of literary studies in North America but many are still unsure just what it is The Comparative Perspective on Literature shows by means of twenty two exemplary essays by many of the most distinguished scholars in the field how comparative literature as a discipline is conceived of and practiced in the 1980s Nearly all of them published here for the first time the essays discuss and themselves reflect significant changes at the core of the field as well as evolving notions as to what comparative literature is and should be The volume editors Clayton Koelb and Susan Noakes have included essays that address the scope and concerns of comparative literature today historical and international contexts of the field and the relationship of literary criticism to other disciplines as well as affording comparative perspectives on current critical issues

Theory of African Literature Chidi Amuta,2017-06-15 This groundbreaking work first published in 1989 was one of the first to challenge the conventional critical assessment of African literature and remains highly influential today Amuta's key argument is that African literature can be discussed only within the wider framework of the dismantling of colonial rule and Western hegemony in Africa. In exploring the possibility of a dialectical alternative critical base he draws upon both classical Marxist aesthetics and the theories of African culture espoused by Fanon, Cabral and Ngugi. From these explorations Amuta derives a new language of criticism which is then applied to works by modern African writers as diverse as Achebe, Ousmane, Agostinho Neto and Dennis Brutus. Amuta's highly original and innovative approach remains relevant not only for assessing the literature of developing countries but for Marxist and postcolonial theories of literary criticism more generally. The author's elegance of argument and clarity of exposition makes this a distinguished and lasting contribution to debates around cultural expression in postcolonial Africa.

Writing Africa in the Short Story Ernest Emenyonu, 2013 The success of the Caine Prize for African Writing and the growth of online publishing have played key roles in putting the short story in its rightful place within the study and criticism of African literature. African writers have much more than the critics recognized the beauty and potency of the short story. Always the least studied in African literature classrooms and the most critically overlooked genre in African literature today the African short story is now given the attention it deserves. Contributors here take a close look at the African short story to redefine its own peculiar pedigree chart its trajectory critique its present state and examine its creative possibilities. They examine how the short story and the novel complement each other or exist in contradistinction within the context of culture and politics history and public memory legends myths and folklore. Ernest Emenyonu is Professor of Africana Studies at the University of Michigan Flint USA the editorial board is composed of scholars from US, UK and African universities Nigeria, HEBN.

World Literature Decentered Ian Almond, 2021-07-13 What would world literature look like if we stopped referring to the West? Starting with the provocative premise that the West is ten percent of the planet, World Literature Decentered is the first book to decenter Eurocentric discourses of global literature and global history not just by deconstructing or historicizing them but by actively providing an alternative. Looking at a series of themes across three literatures Mexico, Turkey and Bengal the book examines hotels, melancholy, orientalism, femicide and the ghost story in a series of literary traditions outside the West. The non-West the book argues is no fringe group or token minority in need of attention on the contrary it constitutes the overwhelming majority of this world.

Speculative & Science Fiction Ernest N. Emenyonu, Chimalum Nwankwo, Louisa Uchum Egbunike, 2021 Over the past two decades there has been a resurgence in the writing of African and African diaspora speculative and science fiction writing. Discussions around the rise of science fiction and fantasy have led to a push back by writers and scholars who have suggested that this is not a new phenomenon in African literature. This collection focuses on the need to recalibrate ways of reading and categorising this genre of African writing through critical examinations both of classics such as Kojo Laing's Woman of the Aeroplanes 1988
