How to Build a Great Screenplay David Howard, 2004-11-08. Acclaimed USC screenwriting teacher David Howard has guided hundreds of students to careers in writing for film and television. Drawing on decades of practical experience and savvy, How to Build a Great Screenplay deconstructs the craft of screenwriting and carefully reveals how to build a good story from the ground up. Howard eschews the system offered by other books, emphasizing that a great screenplay requires dozens of unique decisions by the author. He offers in depth considerations of characterization, story arc, plotting, and subplotting, dealing with coincidence in story plotting, classical vs revolutionary screenplay structure, tone, style, and atmosphere, the use of time on screen, the creation of drama and tension, crucial moments in storytelling. Throughout the book, Howard clarifies his lessons through examples from some of the most successful Hollywood and international script oriented films including Pulp Fiction, American Beauty, Trainspotting, North by Northwest, Chinatown, and others. The end result is what could very well become the classic text in the field, a bible for the burgeoning screenwriter.

Screenwriters on Screen-Writing Joel Engel, 1995-04. Before any lights, camera, or action, there's the script, arguably the most important single element in filmmaking. Screenwriters on Screen Writing introduces the men and women responsible for the screenplays that have produced some of the most successful and acclaimed films in Hollywood history. In each interview, not only do the writers explore the craft and technique of creating a filmic blueprint, but they recount the colorful tales of coming up in the ranks of the movie business and of bringing their stories to the screen in a way that only natural born storytellers such as themselves can. These and other screenwriters have garnered the attention of the movie-going population not only with their words, but with headlines announcing the sales of their scripts for hundreds of thousands and sometimes millions of dollars. Anyone interested in writing, making, or learning about movies will enjoy reading this fascinating behind-the-scenes compendium that brings together some of the most prominent and talented screenwriters in modern day filmmaking. Screenwriters interviewed include Bruce Joel Rubin, Ghost.

Screenwriting Tips, You Hack Xander Bennett, 2013-05-02 Screenwriting Tip 99 Voice over usually feels like scaffolding You know something you left in there when you were constructing the first draft but really should have torn out after it served its purpose Screenwriting Tip 120 Always remember that funny trumps everything Your script could be written in crayon with your name spelled wrong on the cover but if it's genuinely funny none of that matters Screenwriting Tip 156 The easiest way to write kick ass protagonists is to make them incredibly good at what they do Confused at the outline stage Stuck in the swamp of Act Two Don't know who your protagonist is or where she's going You might feel like a hack But don't worry you're not alone Even the most experienced writers feel like this at times Sometimes we just need a few short pointers and reminders to set us on the path again Xander Bennett worked as a script reader in the trenches of Hollywood reading and covering hundreds of mediocre screenplays After months of reading about heroic Sea World trainers transgendered circus detectives and crime fighting chupacabras he couldn t take it any more Xander started a blog called Screenwriting Tips You Hack a place designed to provide short witty tips on screenwriting for amateur writers all the way up to journeymen scribes This book is the evolution of that blog Dozens of the best scripts along with many brand new ones have been expanded into bite sized chapters full of funny insightful highly usable advice Let Xander s pain be your gain as you learn about the differences between film and television structure how to force yourself to write when you really don t want to and why you probably shouldn t base your first spec script around an alien invasion Screenplay Syd Field,1979
