Galliher, 1988-01-01 Edwin Sutherland is the acknowledged father of American criminology This is the first full length analysis of his work and his person Unlike the European schools of criminology which sought to locate deviant behavior within the deep structures of the economy Sutherland eschewed such explanations in favor of proximate and observable causes He located the sources of crime in the association and interaction of specific groups of people For Sutherland crime as a way of life results from an individual's attachment to criminals for whom criminal acts are a measure of success no less than a way of life In a series of publications Sutherland expanded the horizons of the classic Chicago School of interactionists and in the process founded criminology as a separate area of research while locating it firmly within sociology As the authors show Sutherland's work was inspired by strong moral concerns and a sense of the needs of society for social order without falling prey to either blaming the victim or pandering to sentiment about the joys of criminal life In this sense he is a model of the sociological tradition long deserving of the biography acknowledging his role as a master and pioneer Yet Gaylord and Galliher have written more than an intellectual biography They take seriously the need to fit Sutherland and his theory of differential association into a social and historical context They are also aware and critically straightforward about the limitations of Sutherland's work in criminology but place both his achievements and their limitations in a fully developed analytical context      Applied Crime Analysis Wayne Petherick, 2014-06-12 Most approaches to crime analysis focus on geographical crime mapping which is helpful in identifying crime clusters and allocating police resources but does not explain why a particular crime took place Applied Crime Analysis presents a model that brings statistical anchoring behavioral psychopathology and victimology from the social sciences together with physical and crime scene evidence to provide a complete picture of crime This hands on guide takes theoretical principles and demonstrates how they can be put into practice using real case examples In addition to covering key topics such as staged crime scenes false reports and criminal motivations the book's includes a final chapter on report writing showing readers how to use their findings to successfully advance to prosecution and succeed in court Presents a model that takes social science concepts including statistical anchoring behavioral psychopathology and victimology and connects them with crime scene evidence to examine and analyze crime Puts crime analysis theory into practice with real world examples highlighting important concepts and best practice Includes a report writing chapter to demonstrate how this approach can strengthen criminal cases and succeed in court Instructor materials include a Test Bank Powerpoint lecture slides and Instructor's Guide for each chapter      Crime Analysis with Crime Mapping Rachel Boba Santos, 2016-10-22 Crime Analysis With Crime Mapping Fourth Edition provides students and practitioners with a solid foundation for understanding the conceptual nature and practice of crime analysis to assist police in preventing and reducing crime and disorder Author Rachel Boba Santos offers an in depth description of this emerging field as well as guidelines and techniques for conducting crime analysis supported by evidence based research real world application and recent
