Herskovits, 2013-11-05 Focussing on the problems of change and resistance to change that mark the African sub continent this book examines Africa's place in the world from earliest times It considers the nature of its peoples in their prehistoric development the ways in which their cultures were oriented and the ways in which these cultures guided their reactions to European ideas It also assesses the human responses to industrial technological and economic changes and the re discovery by the Africans of African culture Originally published in 1962      Crossing the Line Simon J. Bronner, 2006 For centuries new sailors from European and North American countries have been subjected to an elaborate hazing at sea called crossing the line Typically initiated upon a crossing of the equator the beatings dunkings sexual play and drinking displays that constitute crossing the line have in recent decades been banned by some fleets but they have also been the subject of staunch defenses and fond reminiscences Crossing the Line studies the purpose and the changing meaning of the ceremony substantially revising long held assumptions      Cottages Sir Lawrence Weaver, 1926      The "Country Life" Book of Cottages Lawrence Weaver, 1919      Pioneer Collections, 1883      Pamphlets on Biology, 1887      Historical Collections Made by the Pioneer Society of the State of Michigan Michigan Historical Commission, 1906      Historical Collections Michigan State Historical Society, 1906      Reports, 1902      Building a World Heritage City Michele Lamprkos, 2016-03-03 Society of Architectural Historians Spiro Kostof Book Award Honorable Mention 2018 The conservation of old Sanaa is a major cultural heritage initiative that began in the 1980's under the auspices of UNESCO it continues today led by local agencies and actors In contrast to other parts of the world where conservation was introduced at a later date to remediate the effects of modernization in Yemen the two processes have been more or less concurrent This has resulted in a paradox unlike many other countries in the Middle East that abandoned traditional construction practices long ago in Yemen these practices have not died out Builders and craftsmen still work in traditional construction and see themselves as caretakers of the old city At the same time social forms that shaped the built fabric persist in both the old city and the new districts Yemenis in effect are not separated from their heritage by an historical divide What does it mean to conserve in a place where the historic past is in some sense still alive How must international agencies and consultants readjust theory and practice as they interact with living representatives of this historic past And what are the implications of the case of Sanaa for conservation in general Building a World Heritage City addresses these questions and also fosters greater cultural understanding of a little known but geopolitically important part of the world that is often portrayed exclusively in terms of unrest and political turmoil      Michigan Historical Collections Michigan Historical
