This book works across established categories of modernism and postcolonialism in order to radically revise the periods places and topics traditionally associated with anti colonialism and aesthetic experimentation in African literature The book is the first account of Olive Schreiner as a theorist and practitioner of modernist form advancing towards an emergent postcolonialism The book draws on and broadens discussions in and around the blossoming field of global modernist studies by interrogating the conventionally accepted genealogy of development that positions Europe and America as the sites of innovation It provides an original examination of the relationships between metaphor postcolonialism and modernist experimentation by showing how politically and aesthetically innovative African forms rely on allegorical structures in contrast to the symbolism dominant in Euro American modernism An original theoretical concept of the role of primitivism and allegory within the context of modernism and associated critical theory is proposed through the integration of postcolonial Marxist and ecocritical approaches to literature The book provides original readings of Schreiner s three novels Undine The Story of An African Farm and From Man to Man in light of the new theory of primitivism in African literature by directly addressing the issue of narrative form This argument is contextualised in relation to the work of other Southern African authors in whose writings the impact of Schreiner s politics and aesthetics can be traced These authors include J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer Doris Lessing Solomon T Plaatje and Zoe Wicomb amongst others This book brings the most current debates in modernist studies ecocriticism and primitivism into the field of postcolonial studies and contributes to a widening of the debates surrounding gender race empire and modernism Olive Schreiner Carolyn Burdett,2013 Olive Schreiner who was born in 1855 in South Africa has become a central literary figure for thinking about the complex debates surrounding gender imperialism and class between 1880 and 1920 Aesthetically bold and politically passionate Schreiner wrote novels short stories lyrical fragments she called dreams as well as non fiction and political polemic Her work is widely acknowledged as a significant though unconventional contribution to the New Woman debates of the fin de si cle while her anti imperialism helped to challenge and reshape feminist thinking This volume explores Schreiner s contribution to these debates while also focusing on the shaping influence of both religion and science on her work It discusses the range of her work including her novels The Story of an African Farm Undine and From Man to Man her feminist tract Woman and Labour and short fictions and allegories about the position of women and her diverse writings about South Africa her country of birth

Schreiner,2002-12-31 This volume brings together for the first time the entire range of the shorter pieces of imaginative writing that she continued to produce throughout her life together with her final account of the vision informing her life's work It rescues Schreiner from the charge of having exhausted a slim talent in one semi autobiographical novel and provides a context in which to situate a woman writer whose idealist concerns recognised no simple geographical boundaries To picture her as first and foremost a colonial writer or alternatively primarily as a member of the fin de siècle British avant garde does little justice to the links she made in her own writing and to the complex situation she occupied for Olive Emilie Albertina Schreiner's life 1855-1920 straddled two centuries and two continents while her travels between the land of her birth South Africa and her family's European homeland embroiled her in the political ferment of two wars the Boer War 1899-1902 and the first World War 1914-1918 Olive Schreiner: Her Friends and Times. ADLER (Daisy Lucie),1955 So Here Then Are Dreams Olive Schreiner,2014-06-23 This early work by Olive Schreiner was originally published in 1901 and we are now republishing it with a brand new introductory biography So Here Then are Dreams is a collection of poetic short stories that deal with the fundamental issues of life such as freedom justice and love Olive Emilie Albertina Schreiner was born on 24th March 1855 at the Wesleyan Missionary Society station at Wittebergen in the Eastern Cape near Herschel in South Africa In 1880 Olive set sail for the United Kingdom with the goal of taking a position as a trainee nurse at the Royal Infirmary in Edinburgh in Scotland Unfortunately ill health prevented her from studying and she was forced to concede that writing would and could be her only work in life In 1883 she produced her first published work The Story of an African Farm which she penned under the pseudonym Ralph Iron This novel details the lives of three characters first as children and then as adults and caused significant controversy over its frank portrayal of freethought feminism premarital sex and transvestitism She became increasingly involved with the politics of the South Africa leading her to make influential acquaintances such as Cecil John Rhodes with whom she eventually became disillusioned and wrote a scathing allegory in his honour Dream Life and Real Life - A Little African Story Olive
