Managing Human Resources Charles H. Levine, 1977-11 A collection of essays on various aspects of municipal personnel management which addresses the complexities of contemporary demands on municipal personnel management The major political antagonists of this new era are no longer the machine politicians and good government reformers of the past Instead the cities today are witnessing the increasingly bitter struggles of taxpayers and elected officials with public employee unions battles between governmental bodies over scarce resources and disputes involving local and federal governmental officials over compliance with federal law and court decisions As a result of these new challenges and the new management techniques which have arisen to meet them the old unitary conception of public personnel administration has collapsed In its stead there now exists a conceptual fragmentation of the subject of public personnel administration a fragmentation which involves new issues new participants and new power relationships which require organizational restructuring of the human resource system itself
