Managing It At Board Level:

Risk Management at Board Level Vinay Kalia, Roland Müller, 2019-01-14 Risk Management today has moved from being the topic of top level conferences and media discussions to being a permanent issue in the board and top management agenda. Several new directives and regulations in Switzerland, Germany and EU make it obligatory for the firms to have a risk management strategy and transparently disclose the risk management process to their stakeholders. Shareholders, insurance providers, banks, media analysts, employees, suppliers and other stakeholders expect the board members to be proactive in knowing the critical risks facing their organization and provide them with a reasonable assurance vis-à-vis the management of those risks. In this environment, however, the lack of standards and training opportunities makes this task difficult for board members. This book, with the help of real life examples, analysis of drivers, interpretation of the Swiss legal requirements and information based on international benchmarks, tries to reach out to the forward looking leaders of today's businesses. The authors have collectively brought their years of scientific and practical experience in risk management, Swiss law and board memberships together to provide the board members practical solutions in risk management. The desire is that this book will clear the fear regarding risk management from the minds of the company leadership and help them in making risk savvy decisions in quest to achieve their strategic objectives.

European Board-Level Employee Representation Jeremy Waddington, 2018-06-23 It is often assumed that employee representatives exert power at the company board but it is rarely made explicit how power is exercised and to what effect. This book, the first to assess national differences between board level employee representatives in their exercise of influence and power, examines coordination among board level employee representatives, trade unions representatives from other institutions of labour representation within the company, management and other board members. Drawing on a large scale survey distributed to board level employee representatives, eleven expert contributors analyse for seven European countries: Denmark, France, Germany, Hungary, Norway, Slovenia and Sweden, how such issues and topics as the following affect the participation of employee representatives at the board: capacity of board level employee representatives to exercise power over long term strategic corporate decision making; how changed circumstances impinge on the role of employee representatives; how coordination of workers' interests has been established and maintained; if at all how board level employee representatives are selected; influence of board level employee representatives on corporate restructuring; effect of corporate codes of governance; impact of the establishment of groups of companies; and protections against dismissal and discrimination of board level employee representatives. Each country chapter reviews the legislation that underpins board level employee representation, the timeliness and quality of the information provided and the capacity of the representatives to apply information made available with the purpose of establishing whether the legislation tends to constrain or facilitate the exercise of influence and power. This book takes a giant step towards answering the question of how board level employee representatives can fulfil their roles in a manner consistent with the intentions of the policymakers who framed the legislation Moreover it approaches the possibility of developing pan European legislation on board level employee representation that would accommodate national variations For these reasons the book will be welcomed by European policymakers concerned with industrial relations or corporate governance as well as by practitioners and academics in a wide swath of European legal and social studies
