The Romantic Manifesto Larry H. Peer, 1988 The vexed question of what the Romantics themselves said about Romanticism has been approached in a number of different ways but their major public declarations have never been gathered together Indeed with the exception of a few of these such as Stendhal's Racine et Shakespeare this body of evidence has been unavailable to the English speaking audience Many of these manifestos are translated here for the first time the remaining are newly translated for this collection Taken together they show Romanticism as a coherent and unified movement appearing in pulses throughout Eastern and Western Europe in the early nineteenth century with a continual spiritual kinship to Schlegelian origins

English Literature in Transition,

1880-1920 ,2005 Transnational French Studies Alec G. Hargreaves, Charles Forsdick, David Murphy, 2012-01-01 The 2007 manifesto in favour of a Litterature monde en francais has generated new debates in both francophone and postcolonial studies Praised by some for breaking down the hierarchical division between French and Francophone literatures the manifesto has been criticized by others for recreating that division through an exoticizing vision that continues to privilege the publishing industry of the former colonial metropole Does the manifesto signal the advent of a new critical paradigm destined to render obsolescent those of francophone and or postcolonial studies Or is it simply a passing fad a glitzy but ephemeral publicity stunt generated and promoted by writers and publishing executives vis a vis whom scholars and critics should maintain a skeptical distance Does it offer an all embracing transnational vista leading beyond the confines of postcolonialism or reintroduce an incipient form of neocolonialism even while proclaiming the end of the centre periphery divide In addressing these questions leading scholars of French Francophone and postcolonial studies from around the globe help to assess the wider question of the evolving status of French Studies as a transnational field of study amid the challenges of globalization

Where the World is Not Kim Savelson, 2009 How do novels that literally discuss invention and inventors engage through such discussions an array of critically important conversations and issues beyond invention And to where and how can we trace and follow such discourses In Where the World Is Not Cultural Authority and Democratic Desire in Modern American Literature Kim Savelson examines the ways in which resoundingly popular U S novels by Frank Norris Willa Cather F Scott Fitzgerald and Ralph Ellison host the tug of war between thought and action between the democratic agenda of the pragmatist movement and the aristocratic idea of aesthetics Savelson argues for and reads these novels as a way of thinking through the implications for the meaning and making of culture brought about by the ongoing social revolution of democratic modernity She thus expands the scope of the current work being done on pragmatism as well as the work being done on literature and democracy carving out an intersection of these two fields Savelson demonstrates that the questions under her consideration appeared at different key moments over the course of the first half of the twentieth century embodying and deepening the struggle between the abstract and the practical the cultural and the commercial a struggle that turned into a dilemma and a period of growth for modern democratic desire In so doing she offers a historical recontextualization of selected literary texts analyzing them as a way of thinking about intellectual history with subtlety and particularity Empirical Approaches to Literature Gebhard Rusch,1995 Critical Essays on Mikhail

Bakhtin Caryl Emerson,1999 Essays represent the best known works of this Russian philosopher and literary theorist Includes distinctions between Bakhtin as social critic and philosopher American Studies in Scandinavia ,1990
